$60,000,000 Valencia Crop Seen For Orange County

MANAGER OF M. O. D. SEES BRIGHT YEAR

Shipments Will Begin May 1, Continue to November 15, Reports Reveal

MARKET IS HIGHER

Florida Will Have No Crop This Year Due to Fruit Fly Disaster Last Fall

SIXTY-MILLION-DOLLAR Valencia orange crop, conservatively estimated, is sen now by J. A. Steward, general sales-manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors. He bases this pre-season estimate or the present condition of crop on the trees, the probable shipments to go between May 1 and November 15, and the returns received in other years. Navel oranges also are bringing good prices now, he said, with a generally better market on the larger sizes, and with F. O. B. returns about $1.25 the packed box better than in the same period last year.

"Valencia shipments will begin about May 1, this year," he said, "and the navel shipments will have been completed by that time. Last year, navel shipments continued well up to May 15. This is one advantage I can forsee.

"Another is that Florida will not be in the market after May 1, this year, while in 1929 that state shipped about 4000 carloads of fruit after May 1.

"From May 1 to November 15, this year, California will have about 23,000 carloads of Valencias to go, against approximately 40,000 carloads of fruit, last year. Of course, these present estimates may be revised upward a little, owing to the additional and unexpected growth of the fruit now on trees.

"Based on this estimate of 23,000 carloads of fruit to go, and viewing it from the other comparable years, the Valencia crop should sell at somewhere near $60,000,000.

"As to the navel situation," he continued, "half of the present crop is gone from Southern California; Tulare county has completed its shipments. Up to February 26, total navel shipments from California were 14,231 carloads, against 19,888 carloads last year in the same period. Prices are now about $1.25 the packed box better than were being received for the crop in the same period last season.

"Added to the good outlook for Valencia growers, it also will be their advantage to have, this year, less picking, hauling and packing costs, and undoubtedly less cullage."

KEYES TO PRISON MARCH 11

LOS ANGELES, March 5—(UP)—Arrangements were under way here today to transfer Asa Keyes, former Los Angeles district attorney, to San Quentin prison next Tuesday night, it was said at the county jail.

Keyes, convicted of conspiracy to give and accept bribes in the prosecution of the Julian Petroleum corporation cases, has been in jail for more than a year. He recently lost an appeal in the state supreme court.

Keyes was sentenced to serve from one to 14 years.

Breaks Record But Keeps On Listening

NUTLEY, N. J., March 5.—(UP)—In the future, this little town will be known as the home of Mike Petillo, the champion long distance radio listener of the world.

At 5 a. m. today an attendant wanted to switch off the power of a radio in the Silvertone Radio shop but Mike kept right on listening just as he had since last Wednesday, when he started this listening business with nine other persons. Attendants admitted they didn't know when he'd quit although he was aware he had broken the previous record of 150 hours.

He seemed too sleepy to care much about the honor and its attendant $200 prize.

TALBERT SAYS PLANE FACTORY TO COME HERE

Additional Facts of Drigi-plane Given Out Today By Firm Member

T. B. TALBERT, of Huntington Beach, one of a group of Orange county men interested in the company which will manufacture a new $800,000 air cruiser of revolutionary type, details of which were published exclusively in The Register yesterday, is confident that a site for the concern's plant will be selected in Orange county.

Outlining additional facts about the "drigi-plane," Talbert today precicted that it would revolutionize flying throughout the world. He pointed out that it would be able to land and hop off either from land or water and that it would travel on water as speedily as an ocean liner and with equal or greater safety.

Talbert said the ship would be able to travel from Los Angeles to Paris in two and one-half days, at an operating cost of but $75 per passenger. It will carry 120 passengers or a useful load of over 60,000 pounds.

Concerning locating the plant in Orange county Talbert said that a site with an area of about 20 acres would be required and that he was confident that there is every possibility that it will be located in this section. A small site can be used, he pointed out, because of the fact that the ship can rise practically vertically from the ground, can land at a

CHAPLIN CONSIDERS NEW FILM COMPANY

HOLLYWOOD, March 5,—(UP) Reiterating his statement that he would never appear on the talking screen, Charles Chaplin, famous comedian, today announced plans for organization of a new film company to make nothing but silent pictures.

The organization would be known as the Charles Chaplin Picture Productions, Inc., a closed corporation which, if present plans materialize, would spend between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 annually on pictures.

Chaplin will finish his present film schedule in 10 weeks, he said, after which he plans to go abroad for four months Upon his return, he expects to begin work on the new project.

Lands His Plane Safely In Spite Of Damaged Wheel

SAN DIEGO, March 5.—(UP)—Lieut. William Groen jr., army flyer, today had his name on the list of men whose skill and steady nerves provide the colorful incidents for aviation's history.

Warned while in the air yesterday that a landing wheel had been damaged on the giant bombing plane which he was piloting with five soldiers aboard, Groen signalled he planned to land.

While first aid equipment waited on the field, Groen saved himself and passengers from possible injury by tilting his heavy ship to one side and landing on the good wheel. He taxied in this manner until the plane dropped over, damaging one wing slightly.

THREE KILLED IN AIR CRASH AT SAWTELLE

Plane Smashes Into Side of Small Hill and Bodies Are Recovered

SAWTELLE, Calif., March 5,—(UP)—The bodies of three men were found today in the wreckage of an airplane which had smashed into the side of a small hill on the extensive ranch owned by Will Rogers, noted humorist and actor.

The men were believed to be Morey Johnson, Los Angeles, owner of the plane, and W. G. Hogge and Jean La Voie, both young Los Angeles fliers.

Possible identification of the victims was traced through an automobile which they used to ride to the Lincoln airport yesterday to take off on a flight in Johnson's plane, and through an airport employe who said he knew Johnson and La Voie.

The car had been rented by Hogge, records showed, and a check at the young man's apartment house revealed that he and La Voie, his room mate, had not been home all night.

James C. Noll, assistant United States aeronautical inspector, took charge of the investigation on the rain-washed hillside. Noll was of the opinion that the pilot had been flying along the coast and became confused in a heavy fog.

The body of the pilot was hanging out of the cockpit of the plane and those of the two passengers were partially buried under the engine.

Twenty-five employes of the Rogers ranch aided in clearing the rough hillside in order that the bodies might be removed from the shattered plane.

Although it was probable that the plane struck the hill early Tuesday evening, the wreckage was not found until this morning when H. J. Mulheron, an employe of the ranch, discovered it as he was searching for some horses

BANDITS TORTURE FARMER AND WIFE

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill., March 5.—(UP)—Vigilantes patrolled roads near the Ed Tessendorf farm today, guarding against return of two robbers who tortured the farmer and his wife until they revealed the hiding place of a semi transparent stone the size of a goose egg which countryside gossip had described as a diamond worth $40,000.

Tessendorf dug up the stone on his farm and learned from a jeweler that it was crystal worth $300. It was feared that robbers would make good threats to return when they learned the value of their loot.

The farmer was hobbling about today despite the fact that his toe nails had been torn out and his skin burned by the torturers. His wife was suffering nervous prostration.

CANDY WAGON MAN SLAIN IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 5.—(UP)—While police rounded up 535 suspects in the 24-hour period of the drive on crime ended last midnight, Joseph Cerrito, 30, candy wagon man, was slain in a school yard by assassins.

Search was on today for Dan Clemente, who two years ago was sent to prison for extortion on Cerrito's testimony. Cerrito told how Clemente had burned the soles of his victims' feet to force them to pay tribute. As the convicted man was led away he shouted to Cerrito: "I'll cut your throat for this some day."

Clemente was released from jail, where he had been serving another sentence as a pander, last Friday.

Red Thursday Riots Will Be Nipped In Bud

Police and Soldiers Over World Ready to Cope With Radicals

POLICE AND soldiery the world over were mobilized today against tomorrow's international "Red Thursday" demonstration of the unemployed.

While anticipatory arrests had been made in some parts of Europe, reports from most large cities in America were that police expected no violence.

In San Francisco, a large body were expected to march to Civic center, far from opposing the demonstration, police announced today that an escort would probably be furnished.

At Los Angeles, where several persons were injured last Wednesday night in disorder attending a demonstration of several hundred unemployed, squads of police were held in readiness to rush to the scene of disturbance. The demonstration is expected in the afternoon.

Police opposition loomed in Chicago, where reports have gained some credence that Communist leaders had ordered bombing of electric, gas and water lines. The arrest of all suspicious persons loitering near manholes has been ordered. If a proposed parade of children of school age is attempted, leaders will be arrested for contributing to the delinqtency of minors, it was announced.

Grover A. Whalen, police commissioner, said that no violence is expected in New York. "Free speech but no rioting," a recent order of Mayor James Walker, will be the order at Union Square, Communist rendezvous.

New Yorkers witnessed yesterday an impressive parade of police strength in the dash to City hall of a force of 30 foot patrolmen, six mounted policemen, six in armored motorcycles and six in riot wagons equipped with tear gas bombs and

EMBEZZLERS AIDED BY BROKERS, CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(UP)—The president of the San Francisco Stock exchange, George Noel Keyston, and five members of his brokerage firm today faced charges of "aiding and abetting" persons indicted for embezzlement of $550,000.

Keyston and the others of the brokerage firm of Leib, Keyston and company are charged in an indictment returned yesterday by a federal grand jury. Bail has been set at $5000 each.

Those indicted besides Keyston were Elmer J. Griffin, Douglas C. Alexander, Gary S. Rossitter, Claud Galbarino and Charles H. Gray

The indictment charges specifically that these six men "aided and abetted" Joseph C. Bray, Robert G. Haddow and Daniel P. Burke, employes of the Bank of Italy recently indicted for embezzlement of $550,000. The money was allegedly used for speculation on the stock market.

VERDICT ASKED BY DEFENSE IN NELSON'S CASE

State Completes Evidence Shortly Before Recess Taken at Noon

WITH THE case of the People fully presented through the testimony of six witnesses and the presentation of numerous papers and copies of court records, the trial of Alex P. Nelson, former Orange county district attorney, charged with grand theft in connection with the handling of the estate of Martin Epson, of which he was administrator, halted for the noon recess after attorneys for the defense made a motion for an instructed verdict of not guilty.

The jury in the case was finally selected late yesterday afternoon after 14 prospective jurors had been excused by the prosecution and the defense on peremptory challenges and stipulations. Members of the jury are Gustav C. Roseman, Henry Phillips, Warren T. House, Mrs. Stella Hitterdahl, W. C. Drake, Mrs. Helen Ashby, Mrs. Mildred F. Ridenour, A. M. Smith, Fred E. Foor, Mrs. Stella R. White, Willits Van Cleave and Mrs. Eva Pitner.

Witnesses today were Mrs. A. A. Eddy, Justine Whitney, F. W. Slabaugh, C. W. Baxter and John Epson. Documents that were introduced included papers relative to the administration of the estate.

In the argument for sustaining the motion asking the court to instruct the jury to sustain a verdict of not guilty, L. A. West, former district attorney and chief defense counsel, told the court that the actions used by the grand jury in making its charge might be regarded as the basis for a civil action as a result of possible negligence, but that there was positively no basis for a criminal action.

NEW DICTATOR FOR SPAIN IS RUMORED

MADRID, March 5.—(UP)—Intense Republican propaganda in army circles may result in the establishment of another dictatorship on the pretext of 'defending King Alfonso's crown," political observers believe.

Rumors of such a move have been current for more than a week. They may vanish but the threat of impending storm remains.

Damaso Berenguer's first task as premier, which was to accomplish what he called the "pacification of spirit," is more difficult than he reckoned because two radically opposed forces are emerging—those remaining faithful to Alfonso and those opposed to him.

It is easy to conceive of a situation, therefore, in which some group of generals may step in and eliminate Berenguer on the ground that he is not safeguarding the present regime.

Rumors of the approach of a military dictatorship, however, lack confirmation, and Berenguer is known to oppose such an idea.

TWO ARRESTED FOR WALKING ON WRONG SIDE OF HIGHWAY

For the first time in the history of California, and probably in the history of the country, two men were arrested near here yesterday for walking "wrong."

The actual charge against them was violation of section No. 150 1-2 of the state motor vehicle law, which prohibits pedestrians from walking along a highway "on any side other than the extreme left edge of the road." The law has been in effect for some time, but yesterday was the first time it was ever known to have been enforced.

The man, Robert I. Thaylen, 25, an airport employe of Los Angeles, who is said to have been a pilot at one time in New York, and Lewis Harris, 23, jeweler, of Los Angeles, were given suspended jail sentences in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning, but not until after they had spent the night in the county jail, where they were placed yesterday afternoon by F. G. Yoder, state traffic officer.

The men, according to Yoder, were near Olive yesterday, on the state highway, signalling cars for rides. The officer felt that the men were annoying drivers and ordered them to stay on the left side of the road and discontinue their signalling.

Thirty minutes later, the men signalled other cars from the center of the road, the officer reported, so he placed them under arrest. They were booked at the county jail for investigation and the unusual charge was lodged against them this morning.

Santa Ana enjoyed a precipitation of .40 inches, giving it a season total of 6.96 inches compared to a total of 6.95 inches for last year. The rainfall appeared to have been "spotted," with figures for the storm varying from .17 inches in Los Alamitos to .82 inches in El Toro.

Although San Juan Capistrano was second highest in its storm figures, it remained far in the lead for the season, with a total precipitation of 10.91 inches. Laguna reported the next highest seasonal total, with 7.80 inches.

FOUR KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES CAR

CERES, Calif., March 5.—(UP)—Bodies of four persons killed in a grade crossing accident in front of gates to a cemetery lay in the morgue here today, identification possible only through fragments of clothing they had worn.

The dead were:

James W. Simpson, 26, Turlock irrigation district employe, and his wife, Raye, 24, a Ceres grammar school teacher; her brother, Harry Day, 14, and sister, Mary Day, 7.

All were instantly killed yesterday when Simpson drove his car onto the crossing in the path of the speeding San Joaquin flyer.

Heavy rain is believed to have obscured his vision.

Fragments of the automobile and its occupants' bodies were strewn along the track for 300 yards before the train could be stopped.

MOTHER OF MOVIE STAR GETS ESTATE

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(UP)—When the will of Mabel Normand, film comedienne, who died February 23, is filed here within the next few days, Mrs. Mary Norman, mother of the late star, will be named sole beneficiary.

This was revealed yesterday when attorneys read the document to members of the Norman family. No estimate can be made of the amount of the estate until a schedule of holdings is prepared, it was said.

"That was the way I wanted it," Lew Cody, actor-husband of the dead comedienne, said after an explanatory clause in the will declared that he had sufficient means to provide for himself.

DEFEAT AVERTED

BERLIN, March 5.—(UP)—The cabinet of Chancellor Hermann Mueller averted defeat today by agreeing to accept a compromise plan for solution of the unemployment legislation crisis. The decision virtually assured swift adoption of the Owen E. Young reparations plan or at least temporary continuation of the coalition government.

FIVE ELECTED AS DIRECTORS OF LOCAL C. C.

Installation to Take Place at Home Products Dinner Friday Night

ELECTION returns were broadcast today at the Chamber of Commerce here, following a meeting of the board of directors. Five candidates were elected to serve for the coming year on the board of the booster body. Those elected were Alex Brownridge, banker; Clyde Downing, attorney; Harry L. Hanson, banker; Carl Mock, realtor; and Charles B. Rutledge, public utility official.

The directors whose terms expired were B. E. Morthland, Jack Wallace and L. D. Coffing. Hanson and Mock were re-elected to the board to succees themselves.

Installation of the directors will take place at the annual products dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, which will take place on Friday night at St. Ann's inn. The session of the board at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters today was devoted chiefly to discussion of plans for the annual event.

The first meeting of the board with its newly elected members will take place on March 19. At that time the board will elect its president, two vice-presidents and a treasurer.

Other members of the board, whose terms did not expire are W. C. Jerome, president; O. H. Barr, Walter Vandermast, Col. S. H. Finley, J. P. Baumgartner, Fred Forgy, Fred Crowell, Bob Fernandez, Allison Honor and Ernest Winbigler.

SERUM TREATMENT PATIENT SUCCUMBS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(UP)—Despite all efforts of modern medical science including use of the new cancer serum treatment, Mrs. Gertrude Edwins, who was brought here for the Coffey-Humber treatment, by airplane ambulance from Wenatchee, Wash., was dead today from the ravages of cancer.

For 18 days physicians had prolonged life with blood transfusions and other expert care. Mrs. Edwins failed to rally, however, and succumbed at 3:10 p. m., yesterday. At her bedside was her husband, who mortgaged his Chelan, Wash., fruit farm to bring her here.

Dr. George K. Rhodes, who attended her, despaired of saving her life from the start. Extract discovered by Doctors Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber was injected several times each week.

RUM CAPTURED BY BORDER OFFICERS

EL PASO, Tex., March 5.—(UP)—The border customs patrol today was credited with another victory in its continual fight to prevent smuggling of liquor across the Rio Grande.

Officers surprised Mexican rum runners yesterday on the American side of the river, captured their liquor, and three times beat off attempts to retrieve the contraband.

Inspector R. E. Bowden was the only casualty among the customs officers, and it was believed none of the Mexicans was injured. Bowden suffered a slight wound in the foot.

Officials said the battle, which took place directly south of El Paso county hospital, was the most fiercely contested since the advent of prohibition.

HENRY FORD BACKS 18TH AMENDMENT

Opens Dry Defense Before House Judiciary Committee With Telegram

WRITER TAKES STAND

Figures Produced to Prove Nation Has Advanced In Every Line In 10 Years

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(UP)—Henry Ford opened the drys' defense on the 17th amendment before the house judiciary committee today with a telegram opposing repeal "or any dangerous modification of prohibition."

The telegram was addressed to Samuel Crowther, writer on economic and business affairs, who was the first witness called by the prohibitionists.

The message follows:

"The 18th amendment is recognized by the men and women of our country, the women especially, as the greatest force for comfort and prosperity of the United States.

"I feel sure that the sane people of this nation will never see it repealed or any dangerous modification."

The large committee room was crowded when Crowther started to testify.

Aged women members of dry organizations stood packed against the walls or sat on tables, as the chairs were filled long before the hearing began.

Crowther, like the first witness several weeks ago, is a magazine writer. He defended the law from an economic standpoint. Aside from Ford, he summoned the testimony of other industrialists, including E. J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel corporation, and Josiah Keely, president of the Cabin Creek Consolidated Coal company.

Crowther said he had collected statistics showing working men are not buying the high priced bootleg liquor. This means, he said, that there has been a diverting or pending away from liquor, for everyone agrees that the cost of home brew does not amount to anything in dollars and cents. The money that formerly went for drink is going elsewhere, Crowther asserted.

"The production of the country has increased within 10 years by between 25 and 30 per cent instead of at the normal rate of about 15 per cent," the witness said. "We have a clear gain of between 10 and 15 per cent.

"The total realized income of the nation, as found by the president's committee, stood at not quite 65 billion dollars for 1919. It dropped to a low point of 63 billion dollars in

COOLIDGES LEAVE FOR EASTERN HOME

GLOBE, Ariz., March 5.—Coolidge dam, not many hours ago the scene of a great celebration, today stood deserted as the former president for whom it was named sped eastward toward his New England home.

The crowds which had gathered from many parts of the southwest dispersed late yesterday as the music of the tom-toms in the Indian dance which closed the ceremonies, died away.

Many waited at Globe, 26 miles from the dam, however, until Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge left on the Southern Pacific "Tonto" at 8:02 p.m., bound for Northampton, Mass., via El Paso and New Orleans.

CAPITAL OF BANK AT $100,000,000

ROME, March 5.—(UP)—The total authorized capital of the International Bank of Settlements is to be $100,000,000, divided in 200,000 shares, it was said today.

American banks involved in the international institution will arrange for sale in the United States of a portion of the shares allotted to them, it is understood.

Commendatore Giovanni Fumi, on behalf of J. P. Morgan and company and the First National banks of New York and Chicago, has signed the international bank's charter.

sub-machine guns. They were summoned by a false rumor that a detachment of Communists threatened to invade a meeting of aldermen.

Communists protested today against "wholesale preventive arrests" by Paris police. Authorities retorted that they were only arresting those engaged in circulating inflammatory pamphlets.

At Springfield, Ill., was reported the only effort to effect the long mooted coalition of labor and agriculture. There, handbills were issued urging "all workers and poor farmers" to attend a mass meeting on the steps of the state capital behind Abraham Lincoln's statue.

Police had not received orders to interfere, they said.

DRYS PLAN TO SEEK DRINKING BAN IN EGYPT

CAIRO, March 5.—(INS)—The land of the unthirsty camel may go dry.

For the Anti-Alcoholic League of Egypt has resolved to make 1930 its banner year.

And an extensive campaign to rid the country forever of beer drinking Bedouins, champagne-mad sheiks and whiskey soaked tourists has been formed by Ahmed Galwache, president of the league.

But it is the cocktail, according to Mr. Galwache, which is the real danger to Egypt. This modern alcoholic menace has swept like fire through the country and debauched the youth of the land, he says.

The young native girls are now unveiling and asking for dry Martinis, he complains. The Mohammedan youth prefaces his evening prayer toward Mecca with a stiff Manhattan. The ladies of the harem gossip in rebellious new ideas around the cocktail shaker. And the men are all leaving the old cafe for the new bar.

Prohibition and nothing less will save Egypt, Galwache declares. Unless a Volstead law is passed here, drunken disorder will ruin the country, he warns.

His campaign is about to open and will be carried into all the towns and out on to the desert itself. A Temperance Union on every oasis, an Anti-Alcoholic League branch in every city, are his hopes.

Smiling keeps the face looking young, according to beauty specialists; maintaining an air of cool reserve is apt to cause double chins.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores. —Adv.

SCORE OFFER BLOOD TO GENEVA ATTACHE

GENEVA, March 5.—(UP)—The brotherhood of nations was illustrated today when a score of attaches of the League of Nations Secretariat volunteered to give their blood to save the life of Castro Leal, permanent observer for the Mexican government at the traffic conference.

Leal has been critically ill for several weeks with blood poisoning. Two blood transfusions already have been given, and a third was called for today.

1921. Since then it has been steadily mounting and for 1928 is estimated at 89 billion dollars. In 10 years the income of the country has increased at a very much higher rate than ever before and we are today, as a nation, much wealthier than ever before.

"Every figure of wealth that we know has steadily climbed. The index value of sales in department stores has gone from 87 in 1921 to 108 in 1928, and in mail order houses from 67 to 137.

"But there is also a very solid investment side. In 1919 there were around 18 billion individual savings accounts to a total of 13 billion dollars. In 1928 there were more than 53 million accounts holding in them twenty-eight and a half billion dollars. In the building and loan associations, representing for the most part ownership of homes of moderate price, there were in 1919 somewhat over four million memebrs, while in 1927 there were more than 11 million members."

"I still feel that prohibition is the greatest experiment made to benefit man," Thomas A. Edison said in his message. "My observation is that its enforcement generally is at least 60 per cent and is gaining notwithstanding the impression through false propaganda that it is a lower per cent. It is strange to me that some men of great ability and standing do not help remove the curse of alcohol."

The telegrams were presented by Samuel Crowther, an economic writer, who was the first witness summoned by the drys. Crowther delivered a lengthy argument in support of his contention that "laboring men are purchasing more comforts with money they formerly spent in the saloon."

Crowther was followed by Edward Keating, prominent labor editor and former representative from Colorado. Keating gave only his personal views, he said, in his attack on the wets as rebellious zealots.

SAYS GIRLS EAT MORE THAN BOYS

DELAWARE, O., March 5.—(UP)—College co-eds eat more than do college men, says George "Bun" Hoffman, for many years proprietor of Bun's restaurant, traditional rendezvous of Ohio Wesleyan university students here.

If the college women do not actually eat more, least their bills for meals are larger and more promptly paid than those of the men, Hoffman contends.

"Women at Ohio Wesleyan are not gold-diggers, however," he added. "They eat just as much as when they pay for it themselves as when their boy friends foot the bill.

NEW YORK PAYS HUGE SUMS TO FAKE MEDIUMS

NEW YORK, March 5.—Fortune telling nets $25,000,000 annually in New York, according to John Mulholland, magician-lecturer and arch enemy of fraudulent fortune telling. Paris, he says, pays just $6,000,000 for its glimpses into the past, present and future.

A major portion of this huge sum is nothing more than pure blackmail, Mulholland says.

"A man will tell his wife that he is going to work at his office, but he plays piker with the boys," Mulholland said, illustrating one form of blackmail. "The blackmailers get wind of it in ways which they alone can divulge. They make the man believe it is 'in his fortune.' They threaten to tell his wife he was seen in a cabaret with a blonde.

"He wasn't with a blonde, but wasn't where he told his wife he he was going to be—so he pays off.

"One group once worked three years to get its 'evidence.' A select girls' school was singled out. Its students were told 'Aunt Beatrice' would invite them to spend the week end with her and send a liveried chauffeur to the school for her—all for a very nominal fee. The students took advantage of the opportunity and several visited 'Aunt Beatrice.'

"Three years later, after they had been introduced to society and married, they paid heavily for the visit to 'Aunt Beatrice'—and a fortune teller claimed to have read their 'indiscretions' in their palms.

"The blackmailing fortune tellers never collect toll from guilty persons they scare vulnerables by threatening to tell an untruth that cannot be proved an untruth gracefully."

CATCH COLD DAILY IS CULT'S SLOGAN

VIENNA, March 5. — (INS)—"Catch a cold daily," is the slogan of a recently founded Vienna club, members of which are compelled to take a bath every morning in the ice covered Danube during the winter months. When the ice is thick, a big hole is cut by the members on duty, under the personal guidance of the president of the club, Dr. Karl Panesch, a 65 year old Vienna physician, an ardent advocate of the cult of the nude.

ARAB LADS BUY WIVES AT RATE OF $2.50 EACH

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 5.—In Morocco when a young man reaches the age of 18 or 21, his father gives him the gate, a parental blessing and usually a donkey with which to make a living.

"With the donkey," said Col. Conray Babcock, addressing army reserve officers here, "the youth usually goes to a nearby town, works and saves his money until he has acquired as much as $2.50. Then he buys a wife. You can get quite a good wife for $2.50 in Morocco; you'd be surprised how good looking they are.

"Life immediately begins to improve for the young man after this; he doesn't have to work nearly so hard, and with the income from the labor of the donkey and the $2.50 wife he saves enough to buy a $4 wife. He then is set up for life and needn't do a lick of work again. Nor does he. If he gets ready to move he calls his wives and says: 'Ladies we're moving tomorrow.' They bow respectfully and start making the necessary preparations. A mattress and roll of bedding are strapped around the donkey, the master perches himself on top and lights a cigaret, and the wives gather up the remaining 300 or 400 pounds of household goods, and they start.

"An Arab believes in taking the easiest way, if stern necessity forces him to work, and he works as little as possible.

"Whatever happens is the will of Allah, and the Arab is patient and cheerful about it. You never hear of an Arab committing suicide."

Col. Babcock visited Morocco in 1921 when he was military attache in Paris.

Swordfish is now regarded as a food in Boston and is sold in some places at 50 cents a pound.

Pale, Nervous Girl, 6, Gains 2 Pounds In Week

"My little girl was pale and thin. Now since giving her Vinol she has nice rosy cheeks and has gained 2 pounds a week."—Mrs. G. Henderson.

Vinol supplies the body important mineral elements of iron, calcium with cod liver peptone. This is just what thin, nervous children or adults need, and the QUICK results are surprising. The very first bottle often adds several pounds weight. Vinol tastes delicious! C. S. Kelley Drug Co.—Adv.

Talbert called attention to the fact that passengers on the ship, which will be 310 feet long, will be located on the top of the two gas bags which are part of its construction. When the ship is on water this fact will give them an added safety feature in case of high seas, for the water will be unable to reach them. The two gas bags will serve to stabilize the ship, both on water and in the air, working on the same principle which stabilizes the outrigger canoes used by natives of Hawaii.

The two gas bags will be built in units. Between the outer steel shells and the gas containers will be an eight-foot passageway, by means of which the crew will be able to pass from one end of the ship to the other. Sixty passengers will be carried in compartments above each gas bag. The bags are to be tied together with wings and elevators fore and aft. Passageways between the two passenger compartments will be possible because the wings will be nine feet deep at their largest point.

The ship will not carry ballas to prevent rolling. The position of the two gas bags will stabilize the ship without ballast. The extra space thus provided will increase the useful load of the ship.

The ship will combine the speed of the heavier than air craft and the safety of the dirigible type.

"The world will accept aviation enthusiastically as soon as it is assured of safety, speed and economy. The latter two have been possible for some time and the new air cruiser will provide the safety," said Talbert.

The Williams Plan company, owners of the patents, will act as a holding company. The building will be done by manufacturing companies operating through leases from the holding company. Captain Haakon Hammer, of San Clemente, vice-president of the Orange County Coast association, is president of the concern.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

It Makes Dance Music More Enjoyable

TO DANCE to music reproduced by an Atwater Kent Radio is to forget that it is coming from a broadcast station perhaps hundreds of miles away.

It is just like having one of the world's finest orchestras in your home. Because, even at a volume so great that the music completely drowns out the shuffling of feet and murmur of conversation the tone remains undistorted, clear and natural.

A comparison of the most popular receivers show—as well as accurate scientific tests have proven—that it ranks first in every quality essential to radio enjoyment; selectivity, tone, volume and distance.

That is why it is breaking all sales records this year—why the supply is so limited. You should make sure of one for yourself today while you can purchase it on our easy payment plan.

VAN ANTWERPS RETURN FROM HAWAIIAN VISIT

"Hawaii is rightly called the 'Land of Paradise' and the 'Island of Romance,' but beautiful as we found it, nothing could compare with the charm of our own Orange county when we arrived yesterday," declared Mr. and Mrs. Claude Van Antwerp, who were resting today in their home, 2304 North Broadway, from the strain of an unusually stormy voyage, which ended yesterday when the S. S. City of Los Angeles docked three hours late in Los Angeles harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Antwerp spent five enjoyable weeks in the Islands, but since they were there primarily to benefit the former's health they did little traveling in the usual sightseeing program, but remained for the greater part of the time very quietly in their hotel. This was the Royal Hawaiian, on Waikiki beach, and with its 18 acres of tropical gardens, offered them one lovely vista after another. The guests were interesting as well, and twice during their stay the hotel boasted a record number of 750 guests.

They saw much of Honolulu itself and were especially interested in the building that is going on constantly. One of their friends is a member of the planning commission and while he expressed himself as liking the old regime, and wishing to retain more of its features in the public buildings, yet he felt that the general trend was toward the ultra-modern and the complete Americanization of all new buildings.

The shops were most interesting and compared favorably with those of the mainland, according ti the Santa Anans. Some of the small specialty shops were unusually beautiful.

Aside from the satisfaction derived from Mr. Van Antwerp's improved health, both felt that the voyage was well worth while in every particular, not the least interesting phase being the ceremony that attends the departure of each of the stately steamers that ply the Pacific. Their homeward voyage gave them their final thrill in the storm encountered within an hour after they sailed, and which kept up uninterruptedly for three days. Ninety per cent of the passengers were confined to their cabins for the entire voyage.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

NADINE OPENS IN NEW HOME ON TOMORROW

Work on the remodeling of the new home of the Nadine shop, at 211 West Fourth street, today was being hastened in readiness for the informal opening, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, to friends and patrons of the store, according to Joseph Segall, business manager. First announced for tomorrow, the formal opening, with its souvenirs, musical program and other attractive features, has been postponed for another week in order to allow time for the changes being put into effect.

These will include new furnishings in black, silver and green, handsome show cases to correspond, attractive display windows and an entrance that will express the moderne spirit so much sought after by present day merchants. The star pattern being laid in the floor of the entrance is attracting special attention with its color effect worked out by William Homan in black, red, yellow, brown and white.

Nadine's will continue to feature the Missy frock for girls and small women and the smart modes for women of more mature forms, ranging up to size 52. Suits, wraps and hats will be featured as well, and the manager today expressed the belief that a line of dress accessories such as purses, costume jewelry, etc., would be put in latter.

Mrs. William Homan will continue in charge of the store force, which also will include Mrs. W. Hamsley and Mrs. Parnell.

By RUTH ANDREWS

Presenting the second concert program of its winter series in the Santa Ana high schol auditorium, last night, under the direction of D. C. Cianfoni, the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, with a personnel of approximately 70 musicians, was heard by a large, appreciative audience in an appealing anniversary program, celebrating the founding, of the organization, six years ago, by its present director.

Participation of the popular Treble Clef club, women's chorus of 80 members, in a song group of contrasting classic and modern numbers was an additional feature of this anniversary concert, the Choral ensemble appearing publicly under direction of its founder, Professor Cianfoni for the first time last night. The club was accompanied by the orchestra.

Especially did last night's concert evidence great progress made by the local symphony in ideals of musicianship, the well-balanced instrumentation carefully augmented by Cianfoni to four times its original size portraying with great evenness, flexibility and interpretative artistry works of foremost masters of symphonic literature.

Numbers Explained

Preceding the program, H. G. Nelson, chairman of the Santa Ana Philharmonic committee, spoke of the indebtedness of the community to music, stressing its cultural significance upon community progress. Brief explanatory descriptions by Nelson before each number programmed were unique and interesting.

Rippling gaiety of the sparkling overture from Mozart's final masterpiece, "The Magic Flute" opened the popular symphonic program. Clean-cut phrasing and technical fluency of strings were paramount, instrumental coordination graceful and fluent under Cianfoni's careful baton. Verve and spirit marked the presto finale, warmly applauded by the audience.

Increasing in spiritual beauty and significance with each bearing, Schubert's immortal "Unfinished Symphony" did not fail to thrill all hearts. Both eloquent movements of the work were offered with poetic subtlety, read by the conductor with sensitive and unerring instinct for delicacy, played by the orchestra with tender restraint. Work of Elwood Bear, concert master, who has personally trained 15 of the orchestra members, was pleasing throughout.

Suffused with soft rainbow lighting the large ladies chorus, the Treble Clef club made a most attractive appearance. Directed by their founder, Prof. Cianfoni, and accompanied by the orchestra, the club's rendition of the Haydn classic "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" was marked by a simple purity, feminine voices smoothly blended.

Contrasting Numbers

Contrast was found in the two modern songs of Richard Strauss, "All Soul's Day" and "Awake, Awake," voices especially effective in softer passages, the test of fine choral work. The club was accorded a warm welcome, which brought a jolly encore, "The Big Brown Bear."

Orchestral presentation of the popular "Peer Gynt Suite" of Edward Grieg, one of the most heartily favored of symphonic masterpieces, won full favor, contrasting moods of the four varied movements well brought out. "Morning" was a shimmering andante of shifting light and shade, wood-winds and cello well-outlined, contrasted by impressive solemnity and deep pathos of "Ase's Death," with effectively monotonous harmonic pattern.

Light flashing allegro of "Anetra's Dance" tantalized with contrast, while the wierdly grotesque "In the Hall of the Mountain King" was accelerated to a frenzied finale, winning warm favor.

One of the most fascinating of modern waltzes, the "Valse des Fleurs" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," received a colorful reading, conducted with spirit and feeling. Continued applause at the close of the appealing concert brought the brilliantly whimsical "Badinage" of Victor Herbert, its airy staccato a sparkling conclusion.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ASSAULT

C. E. Klund, Fullerton service station owner, who plead guilty yesterday in the court of Judge Halsey I. Spence to a charge of assault and battery based upon a quarrel with his wife, Mrs. Ruby Klund, on the night of February 20 at his station on West Commonwealth avenue, was today awaiting sentence o nthe charge.

The charge was reduced from the former charge of intent to commit murder upo nthe motion of Deputy District Attorney Leo Friis, at the end of a preliminary hearing on the former charge. The simple assault charge was substituted to which Klund immediately plead guilty. Penalty for the assault charge, a misdemeanor, is a fine of $25 to $250 and a sentence up to 90 days in the county jail, either or both at the d scretion of the judge.

C. OF C. CONSIDERS NEW FERRY SERVICE

NEWPORT BEACH, March 5.—A proposal that a ferry service be inaugurated between the end of Balboa peninsula and Corona del Mar is before the harbor development committee of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, having been referred to it yesterday by the chamber's board of directors.

Some Corona del Mar residents and also residents of other parts of Newport Beach have often asked that such a service be established, as at present it is about six miles from Corona del Mar to Main street Balboa, via the Coast highway, but only a little more than a mile as the crow flies.

Secretary G. C. Macleod reported that the Motor Transit company would consider running some of its coast line busses through Newport and Balboa and via ferry to Corona del Mar if a ferry service were in existence.

Last year the Motor Transit company extended its Santa Ana-Newport-Balboa bus service, which runs several times daily, to the end of the peninsula, and at that time it was indicated that a bus service might be established to Corona del Mar.

TELEGRAMS AND LITERATURE FROM ORANGE COUNTY, FLA., READ AT ROTARY MEET HERE

One of the most interesting programs in reecnt months was enjoyed by members of the Santa Ana Rotary club at St. Ann's Inn, yesterday noon, in the nature of an exchange with the Rotary club of Orlando, county seat of Orange county, Florida. The program was arranged by Earl Morrow, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, a former resident of Orange county, Florida.

Folders telling of the advantages and beauties of Orange county, Florida, were distributed to every Santa Ana Rotarian at the meeting and literature extolling Orange county, California, are being distributed today to the Orlando Rotarians, at their meeting on the other end of the exchange. Many interesting telegrams from the Florida Rotarians were received and read at the meeting here yesterday.

The messag from Victor T. Powe, president of the Orlando Rotary club, who also is district manager of the telephone company there, said:

"From Orange county, Florida, a county in our state that never has hurricanes, Rotary sends greetings to Orange county, California, a county in your state that never has earthquakes. While the rest of the country is divided over the question of which state's sunshine and oranges are superior every member of our club extends a hand across the continent to each member of your club in expression of good will and true Rotary feloiwship."

Production of the Florida county comparable to that indicated in the recent crop report of Orange county, Florida, Chamber of Commerce.

His message said:

"Orange county, Florida, greets Orange county, California. This county, with less than 10 per cent of its land under cultivation, shipped a solid car load of fruit or vegetables every 52 minutes of the day and the night this last year."

Telegrams also were received from James L. Giles, Mayor of Orlando; C. M. Gay, secretary of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, and R. M. Shearer, representing the Orange county, Florida, board of county commissioners.

Addresses were made here by Morrow, who told of conditions in the Florida county as he remembered them when he was a barefoot boy: O. H. Barr, who told of the beauties and climate of the Florida county, and W. C. Jerome, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who told of the present conditions in that neighbor across the continent. Jerome gave a survey of Orlando, showing that it was Florida's largest inland city, with a population of 35,000. Its climatic conditions give it an average rainfall of 56.5 inches and an average temperature of 71.8 degrees. It has morning and evening newspapers; 33 churches and a fine public school system and public library.

Music for the meeting yesterday was furnished by "Smilin' Eddie" Marble, KREG announcer and singer, who was accompanied at the piano by Lizzetta Phillips. He sang "One Alone" and "Waiting for Ships That Never Come In."

Telegrams are being sent to the Rotary meeting in Florida today by Ralph Smedley, president of the Santa Ana Rotary club; Jerome and Raymer, of the chamber of commerce, and Morrow.

100 RESIDENTS OF SEAL BEACH HEAR SPEECHES

SEAL BEACH, March 5.—One of the best attended and most enthusiastic meetings since the organization of the chamber of commerce was held here last night, when over 100 residents of Seal Beach gathered at the civic auditorium for the first of a series of monthly dinner meetings.

George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who was the principal speaker for the evening, brought the meeting to a climax when he stated that the present membership dues of $1 a year were entirely too low, and announced that he would join the organization at $12 per year if any member present would take the lead. His proposition was met, not only by one, but by nearly every one present, and many others pledged a like amount.

Raymer related his experience encountered on a recent tour of the eastern states in behalf of Orange county, and said that Southern California, especially the coast section, was the principal subject of conversation at every gathering throughout the east.

The Rev. Father C. Norman Radley, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic church here, said that he was very much interested in the work being done by the chamber of commerce, but the co-operation of the residents and property owners of the community was necessary to build up Seal Beach. He stressed the fact that petty criticism must be eliminated, and unity of the citizens must be attained.

W. D. Miller, president of the California State bank, told the gathering about the growth of coast communities, and said that Seal Beach must keep in line.

Other speakers during the evening were J. A. Armitage, of Sunset Beach, who told of the state highway construction and the state park for Orange county, and J. C. Putnam, chairman of the membership committee.

The program for the evening consisted of a piano solo by Miss Lucile Wooding, reading by Mae Rainey, songs by Mr. Kaulfer, instructor of voice at Long Beach Junior college, readings by Elizabeth Snider and a pianologue by Audrey Armstrong.

The dinner was served by the Seal Beach Woman's club.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, March 5.—Mrs. Padias assisted Mrs. B. L. Kirkham in entertaining the meeting of the Women's Civic and Social club last week. "Spring Gardens" was the topic taken up at the meeting and articles on gardening, shrubs and flowers were read by several members of the club.

The date of the club meeting was also the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Kirkham and Mrs. Taylor and they were presented potted plants by Mrs. McFarlain. A visitor, Mrs. Fulton, was also found to be celebrating an anniversary that day.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Kirkham and Mrs. Padias served angel food cake with a delicious whip to their guests, who included Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. J. P. Ward, Mrs. John Willingham, Mrs. Emmett Tall, Mrs. John R. Harper, Mrs. B. F. THREE CANDIDATES FILE FOR COUNCIL

ANAHEIM, March 5. — Three more city council candidates are in the field here for the election April 14, with the announcements of Fred H. Garrison, W. P. Quarton and E. M. Schlotter. These men have adopted a joint platform, according to their announcement, in opposition to the present form of city manager government. They advocate that all city employes should be Anaheim citizens, that all local improvements should be considered only at the wish of a majority of those upon whom the burden of payment falls and that the expenditure of city funds should be made upon a sound business basis.

Mr. Garrison has been a resident of the city for the past 19 years, was formerly in the plumbing business here, but is now retired. Mr. Quarton, who has lived here for the past 30 years, was one of the original proprietors of the S. Q. R. store, but is now engaged in the motor oil distribution business. Mr. Schlotter has lived in Anaheim for 19 years, during which time he has been engaged in the building construction business.

The other three candidates for council members announced recently are M. W. Martenet jr., Fred Koesel and Leo J. Sheridan.

A Thrilling Detective Story By Mansfield Scott

51ST INSTALLMENT

"Well, Steele," he rasped, "we may as well have it now! What's the game? Eh? What are you here for?"

"I think perhaps you know," was the response.

"M-mm," admitted Garson slowly. "I dare say we do. It may be to your misfortune, my man, that we know it so well."

"The misfortune, I fear, is yours," said Steele.

"Indeed? How so?"

"You have heard before what I mean," replied the other coldly. "You are done, Garson—and you others, too, your organization is done, for all time. You have come to the end of the road. Within one hour, every man in this house will be in a cell—and you can't lift a finger to prevent it."

A burning hatred had disfigured Garson's face. He whirled upon Merrivale.

"When did this man come here?"

"Last night."

"How did he come?"

"In the limousine, as usual—with every precaution!" The chief director was very pale.

"So!" rasped Garson. "You figured to play a little game with us—eh, Steele? Well—what have you gained? What have you found out? Do you know where you are? Do you know any more about who we are?"

The chief director made a choking sound. "He—he knows! He just saw two letters addressed to me!"

Garson's features darkened. "When was this?"

"Not five minutes before you opened the door. He had a gun—"

"And he knew nothing about us until that time?"

"Impossible!"

"Humph. So much for that, then. Well, Steele, do you think anyone else will ever know where you are? I really do think, my friend, that they are going to have some little piece of work to locate your body. What do you think about it?"

He was met by silence.

"Don't hold us to blame for it," added Garson. "You've put your head right into it, with your eyes open. Now, Fred, what paper has he?"

"Our last message from Howard, in duplicate form."

"Where is it?"

"It must be on his person."

"So! He hasn't hidden it about the room?"

"He hasn't had time. He had it in his hand when you came back with the outside key for the door." Garson strove to pierce the intruder's features.

"Come, now!—what's your game? Have you gone out of your head, or what? You may as well come across with it. What was that stuff you were handing me a minute ago, about us all being in a cell, eh? What was the idea?"

"It was my way of inquiring," replied Steele, evenly, "whether you wish to surrender or to fight."

A harsh laugh answered, a laugh without mirth. "So we'll all be arrested, eh? By you, I take it. But why not come down out of the clouds for half a minute? Do you honestly think you're going away from this room alive?"

Malcome Steele returned a faint, quiet smile.

"That," he explained to Garson, "is really a minor consideration."

"It's well that you hold it as such." The other half turned and indicated his associates with a sweep of his arm. "There are five armed men here, Steele, right in this room; and there are four others downstairs. Any time you think it to your advantage—" He paused, as his glance fell upon the twisting form of Garrish beside the table. "You fellows cut him lose, and give him one of those guns. And give Fred back his own."

The two directors watched in silence while the order was obeyed.

"Now," rasped Garson, "come across with that paper!"

The investigator raised his eyebrows in characteristic manner. "Paper?" he repeated uncertainly. "I have none."

"You lie!" returned Merrivale. "I saw you read it. Two sheets of paper, one yellow, one blue, fastened together—that's what we want. I advise you to produce it."

"Grogan—come here!" Garson had swung to one of his men. "Give me a hand, while I search him."

Barnes, the chauffeur, kept his weapon leveled while they worked. With symtematic care, the two men examined the investigator's person. Garson grunted with uneasiness as his first search failed. The pair began again, more carefully. There came a pause as Garson discovered the metal flash light, and held it accusingly before Merrivale's gaze.

"And you let him keep this!" he blazed in scorn.

"But I—I removed the batteries."

With a scowl, Garson examined the interior. "M-mm. So you did." He kept the flash light, and continued his search.

Yet, very strangely, the small, flat, circular, metal object, resembling an enlarged pill-box, and containing a faintly gurgling liquid, was not found.

Now was any trace of the pair of papers, the yellow or the blue.

"No, not yet. He's hidden it somewhere in the room." Garson's tone was positive. "Just get busy, you men, and turn over a few things around here. We ought to bring it to light in a very few seconds.

"I tell you, Will," objected Merrivale, "he didn't have time to hide that paper anywhere except on his person."

"Well—We'll soon get it."

The three men hurried to obey his order, investigating the furniture and examining shelves and drawers. Garrish overturned the table, and subjected its entire surface to a close scrutiny. Minutes passed while the search continued unsuccessfully. Garson, with revolver still drawn, paced the floor of the living room. At length he strode across, and secured the door.

"You may as well tell us where that is," he declared with his first hint of uneasiness.

"I repeat again," offered Steele, "that I—"

"Cut it short. We've heard enough of that. I confess that I don't know what you hope to gain by this, Steele. This affair can have but one ending. What chance you think you have, I fail to see. I wonder, Fred, if he might have thrown that paper out one of the windows."

"He did not!" declared the latter. "He was thinking of that. But he never got near any window after he found the paper."

Followed silence while the others continued their efforts.

At length Garson abandoned his pacing, and swung aggressively toward the chief director. His tone was ominous.

"Has this fellow been watched since he came here?"

"Every minute."

"Was he searched as soon as he came?"

"With the utmost of care," stated Merrivale.

"You've seen that he hasn't had any chance to reach people outside? No letters?—no signal of any kind?"

"He couldn't have!"

"Nor you didn't leave anything on him that he might use to send a signal. Nothing like a new tangled wireless set, or—"

"Positively nothing of the sort!" assured the other. "I searched him myself."

"All right," said Garson. "So far, so good. Now, Steele, I utterly fail to see wnat you hope to gain by doing this. You know we'll find what we're looking for within a few minutes. You know also that there isn't any way in this world that you can get help. You may know, now, within the last half hour, where you are! but if Fred has kept you watched as he says he has, I'll stake my last, lone dollar that no one else knows! I hope, for your sake, that you don't plan on starting anything."

"Take a lok out here, Steele. Do you see those houses? These people, around here, usually mind their own business; and the walls of this suite are sound-proof. Do you see the street out there on our right? I suppose you have planned on shouting for help." And he pointed eloquently to the deserted sidewalks.

With a sneer of triumph, he lowered the heavy shade, and swung again to the investigator. Only behind his back, as he turned, the curtain did not quite hold its position at the bottom of the window—but slid slowly upward, for perhaps eight inches.

"Be sensible, Steele!" urged Garson. "You may have a chance for your life, if you'll do as we tell you. Come across with that paper!"

Steele sighed. "You insist that I have such a paper, when I have repeatedly told you—"

An oath snapped back at him. "I'll break your head, and find the thing afterwards!" roared the other. "If you think I wouldn't—just keep on with this attitude a few minutes longer. Grogan, come here! We'll go through this man again—for the last time!"

The man approached while the others stood watching. And upon this occasion, almost the first effort of the subordinate brought to light the object resembling an enlarged metal pill-box.

"Ho!" murmured the man, peering at it. "We missed this thing before—"

"What's that? Let me look at it!" The voice was Garson's.

He examined the object with intense curiosity, shook it, and noted the faint sound of liquid.

"What's in this?" he demanded.

For the first time, the other's words came back as sharply as his own. "I'm not answering questions, Garson!"

"It's damned few more you ever will answer!" shot the director in return. "Come here, Fred! What was the idea in letting him keep this thing? Do you know what's in it? And how do you open it?"

For a few seconds longer he fumbled with the object, which had a peculiar, knobby contrivance at the side of its upper surface. Steele's eyes grew cold and hard and keen as he watched the man's prying fingers. His whole body became tense in that instant. Then, with another curse, Garson thrust the object into the investigator's hand.

"Open that," he said, "and make it fast!"

Malcome Steele's action was swift, but not hurried. He took the metal contrivance from Garson's fingers.

It seemed that there was an instantaneous, imperceptible snap—and, with such force that the eyes of the men could scarcely follow its flight, the object leaped from Steele's grasp, clove its way against the eight inches of windowpane no longer covered by the curtain, and broke from sight amid a shower of crashing glass.

Merrivale swore sharly, nervously. Garson stood for an instant in silence, glaring from Steele to the point across the room where the metal object had crashed outward into the darkness.

"Well, he leered finally, "you're a nervy customer, eh? Or did you do that for spite, you fool? What's your game anyway?"

"He had your paper in that box!" ventured Barnes.

Garson strode across and unlocked the door.

"That's where it is, I guess, Fred. However Grogan missed it the first time! Or he may be doing it for a stall. Keep your gun on him while I find out."

He flung the door wide open and hurried down the stairs. His footsteps echoed clearly to the waiting group in the room. Merrivale, revolver in hand, watched Steele with glittering eyes. The latter stood with arms folded. Now Garson's steps pounded sharply on the hardwood floor of the hall below. Followed the more rapid sounds of his heavy tread upon the second flight of stairs. Now more faintly, yet still distinctly, arose his footfalls in the vestibule, and the snap of the latch on the great front door.

Then, very quickly—followed other sounds—a blow—an oath of pain—a muffled fall.

Late News From Orange County Communities

Fullerton Council Hits Long Beach Water Plans

ROAD WIDENING COSTS GIVEN BY CITY ENGINEER

FULLERTON, March 5.—Opposition to any possible attempt of the city of Long Beach to obtain water from Orange county was expressed in a motion passed by the Fullerton city council in session last night in the council chambers. The action was taken following the reading of a communication from the Orange county supervisors who took similar action and who declared that any such action by Long Beach would be opposed by the county.

The matter of requiring all autos to stop at railroad crossings when the wig wag is ringing was discussed in a communication from the safety division of the California Chambers of Commerce. The matter is being considered as a means of decreasing the large number of deaths resulting from accidents. The matter was referred to the police committee of the council.

Lowering of pipe lines on West Chapman avenue and on South Yale avenue was authorized by the council in the passing of a motion favoring the project. The line on South Yale avenue will be removed from the middle of the street and placed in the parking to avoid future difficulties. The work will be done by the Anaheim Union Water company, which will bear one-half of the cost.

Ordinances setting the date of the city election for April 14 and the establishment of precincts were passed by the council.

A request of E. B. Tozier to have the question of whether or not the city shall support a band was heard by the council and was referred to Tozier to have a petition filed with the council showing a sufficiently large number of persons in favor of the question. It was pointed out that while the question could not be put on the ballot at the regular election due to lack of time, it might be placed before the voters at a special election soon after the regular election.

Estimates of the cost of widening of North Spadra road as requested by the property owners in the region of the "bottleneck" were submitted to the city council last night by City Engineer C. M. Thorpe.

The council heard the various estimates but did not take action due to the fact that it was shown that the property owners must make a recommendation to the council before any action is taken.

The project which is now being considered by the property owners and which is reported favorable to them is the widening of the road from Chapman avenue north to the Pacific Electric bridge to a 56-foot width by setting the sidewalks back three and one-half feet from the residents' property and moving the curb back to the sidewalk and eliminating the parking. The cost of the project would be $21,400, Thorpe's report showed.

Possibilities of widening the road north to the city limits in various ways was also discussed in the report. The widening of the 24-foot Union Pacific bridge north of the city was referred to in the report, the cost of widening to 44 feet being approximately $14,000. It was shown that a 44-foot width on this bridge would be the equal of 56 feet on the highway provided parking is not allowed on the bridge.

The estimates will be referred to the residents and will be considered at a mass meeting which is expected to be called in the near future, it was decided.

OPERA READ

ANAHEIM, March 5.—The Trojan club met at the Orange County School of Fine Arts last night and heard the oera "Aida," by Verdi, read by Franz Darvis with musical illustrations interpreted by himself on the piano and the use of records for vocal illustrations. Special guests of the evening were members of the Business and Professional Women's club by invitation of Mrs. Kate E. McCullah, director of the Orange County School of Fine Arts.

Seal Beach Flyer Made Air Officer

SEAL BEACH, March 5. — Arrangements are being made by the local police department to establish an air patrol for this community during the summer season. E. E. Davis, pilot at the Crawford airport, has been commissioned as the first Seal Beach air officer. His duties will be to soar out over the bathing beaches at certain hours every day and signal the police if any swimmer is in distress.

Flying rules will also be enforced during the summer, especially along the crowded beaches, where many lives were endangered during the past few years by low flying planes.

The services of Davis will be voluntary, the city being at no expense, except on special occasions when long flying is necessary.

SITE OFFERED FULLERTON AS CIVIC CENTER

FULLERTON, March 5—That the city of Fullerton would be able to purchase the property on West Commonwealth at the corner of Highland avenue as a future civic center and site for a city hall for the amount of $52,500, was reported to the council in a communication received from Howard Irwin.

The proposition came to the city following the sale of the city lot on North Spadra avenue for $70,000. The decision to sell the property was reached by the council at a special meeting called last Friday afternoon.

The city had previously received an offer from Irwin who represented the owners of the property on West Commonwealth avenue for the even trade of the two properties. However, the city was presented with an offer at the special session last Friday and accepted the terms of the offer. While the purchases of the city property has not been revealed, R. S. Gregory, local realtor, represented the purchaser.

The property sold by the city is the north 15 feet of lot 7 and the entire lots 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 of block 8, which extend back 130 feet to a vacant alley. The city still retains the 150-foot frontage running 140 feet deep, lots 13, 14 and 15 on West Whiting avenue.

Irwin was asked to attempt to gain an option on the property until the city election in order that the citizens may determine whether the council shall purchase the property on West Commonwealth avenue or whether the city shall proceed to build a city hall on the remaining city lots on West Whiting avenue.

Irwin pointed out the advantage of the civic center on West Commonwealth avenue due to the fact that the property there is located adjacent to the city park, where a supervised playground might be consummated in the near future.

2 Residences For Harbor District

NEWPORT BEACH, March 5.—Two large residences are to be built here by newcomers to the harbor district, according to permits issued by Building Inspector Gene Fenelon.

S. O. Houghton, of Van Nuys, will build a dwelling and garage at 1012-14 West Ocean front, to cost $8400. It will be of brick construction and the contractor is George Spencer.

C. W. Wilson and Sons have the contract for a $12,500 residence at 1305 East Central in Balboa, for Edward Bouton, of Los Angeles.

Many of those building residences here recently are also either bringing boats with them or having craft built for use in and about Newport bay.

DINNER CELEBRATES 85TH ANNIVERSARY

GARDEN GROVE, March 5.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Price, on Walnut street, was the scene of a happy gathering March 2, when Mr. Price celebrated his 85th birthday anniversary and a family reception was given for their grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Price.

A turkey dinner was served. Baskets of spring flowers were used for decorations and the pastel shades were carried out in the nut cups. The bride's cake was cut by Mrs. Morris Price and J. D. Price cut the birthday cake.

Mr. Price is the oldest resident of Garden Grove. He came across the plains from Louisiana in 1868, lived in Arizona for six years and came to Garden Grove in 1874, 56 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Price have been married 59 years.

Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Price, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Price and daughters, Wilma and Shirley; Mr. and Mrs. John Willingham and daughter, Betty June, of Midway City; Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. What Shall I Do for Gray Hair?

By ALICE STRAWN

I am often asked for a good way to restore gray, faded or streaked hair. While there are many preparations on the market for the purpose, I know of nothing better than a mixture of good old sage tea and sulphur. You can either prepare the mixture at home yourself, or as most women prefer, buy it already prepared and ready to use.

The correct recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, may be had in Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. All druggists carry it and since the cost is only 75c a bottle, there is really no need for any woman to go to the bother of preparing it herself. You would be surprised if you knew the number of men and women who employ Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur because its use is undetectable.

You simply moisten a comb or a soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears and another application or two sees your hair beautifully and evenly restored to its full original color. There is no suggestion of that hard, dyed look that repels fastidious women. I advise any woman—or man—whose hair is turning gray to try Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur.—Adv.

C. OF C. HOLDS DANCING LAWS REASONABLE

NEWPORT BEACH, March 5.—The present city regulations regarding closing of amusement places here are reasonable, in view of all the circumstances, in the opinion of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, who, at a meeting yesterday instructed Secretary G. C. Macleod to so suggest to the local branch of the W. C. T. U., which asked the chamber's support of a proposal to close all such places at 12 midnight.

It was brought out in the discussion that the law was changed in Los Angeles, for example, to allow dancing in Venice during hours when it is prohibited in other parts of that city, that special provision having been made after annexation of the beach community to Los Angeles. This was considered somewhat analagous to Newport and Balboa.

It was also pointed out that no new facts had been brought out since the Newport Beach city council, after an investigation, had filed a similar request made to it recently.

Commodore J. A. Beek, of the Southern California Yachting association, one of the chamber's directors, stated that the date of the two regattas, the Pacific Coast and Southern California, to be held here this year, may be changed from August 11 to 16, as formerly announced, to August 5 to 11. It will be decided Friday of this week at a meeting of yachtsmen, he said.

A letter was read from Attorney-General Webb of the state praising the stand of the local chamber against beach pollution and stating that his department will continue to fight along similar lines.

A recommendation of the transportation committee, headed by Frank L. Smith, that angle parking be tried out for 30 days on the wider portions of Central avenue, so as to allow more cars to park and speed up traffic, was adopted.

The proposal now before the city council, of separating the grade at the Arches crossing of Newport boulevard and the Coast highway, was presented by City Engineer R. L. Patterson, and elicited some discussion. Lew H. Wallace stated that some years ago when the present Newport Boulevard bridge was built the city of Newport Beach paid for all of it, although part of it was in the county. The matter was finally referred to the transportation committee for a report.

Gledhill Chosen Club President

ANAHEIM, March 5.—Members of the Anaheim 20-30 club, selected as their first president, Jack Glenhill at a dinner meeting held in the Elks club rooms Monday night. H. E. W. Barnes, a local Rotarian, was the principal speaker, and the Santa Ana and Fullerton 20-30 clubs assisted with the organization plans. The new luncheon group, which comprises 16 young Anaheim business men, will meet every Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Elks clubhouse. The election of the other officers of the club will be accomplished at the next regular meeting.

BEACH SCHOOL HAS ATTENDANCE RECORD

SEAL BEACH, March 5.— All attendance marks at the Seal Beach elementary school were broken last month, when a daily average attendance of 196 from an enrollment of 208 was recorded. The total enrollment at the school, including the kindergarten, was 238 for the month of February.

The school, under the supervision of J. H. McGaugh, assisted by eight teachers, has a very high scholarship standing. Members of the county grand jury who inspected the school last December stated that the local institution was one of the best in the county, and no recommendations were necessary.

Harbor District Merchants Elect

NEWPORT BEACH, March 5.—Newport-Balboa and Costa Mesa joined together in another movement here last night, when a Harbor District Merchants' association was organized at a dinner at Ed Morris' cafe in Balboa.

Officers were elected as follows: President, A. H. Fitzpatrick; vice president, Frank L. Smith; secretary-treasurer, B. F. Chaplin; directors, the three officers and Russell Hampton, Ross Hostetler and Eugene Reber.

The last three mentioned directors were named as a committee to draft by-laws and call the next meeting.

Carolina Druggist Pioneered Modern Way to Treat Colds

Developed Valuable Formula While Seeking Way to Avoid "Dosing" Children's Colds

While trying to find a treatment for the colds of his own children which would avoid constant "dosing," so disturbing to delicate little stomachs, Lunsford Richardson, a North Carolina pharmacist, developed Vicks VapoRub—the modern external treatment for colds.

Acts 2 Ways at Once

Being applied externally, this modern vaporizing ointment cannot disturb the digestion. Just rubbed on throat and chest, its medicated vapors, released by the body heat, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages, loosening the phegm and easing the difficult breathing. At the some time, it acts through the skin like a poultice, or plaster, "drawing out" the tightness and soreness.

Just as Good for Adults

As one enthusiastic mother told another about this better method of treating colds, Vicks soon became widely known. In time adults, too, found by actual use that it is equally good for their own colds. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and the fame of Vicks has spread to over 60 countries.

Demand Increases Each Year

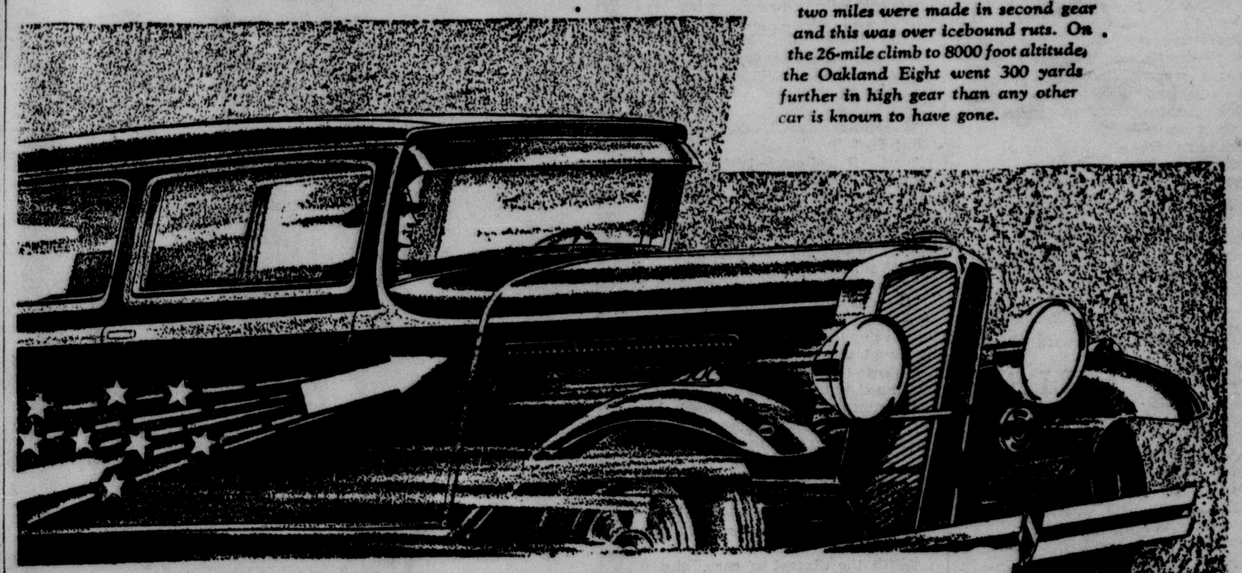

The ever-increasing demand is shown in the familiar Vick slogan. First announced when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly," and later raised to "21 Million," the figures have again been changed—as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly" in the United States alone.

When you see the car with the GOLDEN ROCKET ask for a demonstration

A New Record on Yosemite's Grades

On December 27th, A. H. Patterson with three passengers in a New Oakland Eight sedan made the run from Stockton, Cal., to Glacier Point, 333 miles up the Yosemite Valley. Only two miles were made in second gear and this was over icebound ruts. On the 26-mile climb to 8000 foot altitude, the Oakland Eight went 300 yards further in high gear than any other car is known to have gone.

From morning until evening, the Golden Rocket demonstrator is drawing attention to its superior performance. It is a New Oakland Eight — General Motors' lowest-priced eight-cylinder car.

Watch it and you will observe that few cars can keep up with it for long, or match its pick-up in traffic. To learn what makes this superior performance possible, hail the driver and ask to drive the car. Or come to our showroom and arrange for a special demonstration.

You will learn that the superior performance of the New Oakland Eight is due largely to the fact that its 85-horsepower engine develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight. Other impressive qualities are Oakland's exceptional smoothness and handling ease, and the beauty of its smart new Fisher bodies.

Whether or not you plan to buy a car now—this is the time to ask for a demonstration and learn what exceptional performance and value you can get in this eight of moderate price!

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

DOUBLE WINDUP AT S. A. ARENA THURSDAY

Saints Given Outside Chance To Beat Long Beach

ANCIENT RIVALS VIE TOMORROW ON CINDERPATH

Conceded an outside chance for victory because Captain Norman Paul will compete in one and perhaps both of his pet events, Santa Ana high school's track and field squad will go to Long Beach tomorrow for its second Coast Preparatory league dual meet of the season.

Coach "Tex" Oliver announced definitely that Paul will be allowed to run the 220-yard low hurdles. The Saint skipper is state champion in the furlong barriers and was selected on the All-American interscholastic team last year on the basis of his speed in that race.

Although Paul has run few flights of hurdles so far this year on account of injuries, he is almost certain to win his team five points. His chief competition is likely to come from his teammate, Al Reboin, who pressed Paul closely in all of the big meets of 1928.

Dope Favors Jackrabbits

In the meet itself, Saint power in the field events will be pitted against Long Beach strength on the track, and the dope favors Long Beach to win by a margin of about 10 points.

Coach Oliver's followers have a good chance to win every field event except the pole vault and should score heavily in the hurdles but are hardly expected to stem the tide of points that the Jackrabbits are sure to pile up in the sprints and distances.

'Tex' Oliver

"Ramblin' Red" Franklin, captain of Long Beach's champion football team, ran the 100 in 9 9-10 seconds against Glendale last week and is a prohibitive favorite to beat Santa Ana's short distance negotiators. Whether he also takes the 220 depends, it is believed, on whether Oliver decides to have Captain Paul run that race. Paul is the only Saint sprinter conceded a chance of beating Franklin who is not as strong over the longer route as he is in the century. Franklin lost to Pagliuso, Glendale captain, in a 23.6 race last week. Paul has done close to 23 flat.

440 Should Be Thriller

The 440 should be one of the best races of the day with Yocum of Long Beach slightly favored over Jim Daneri, the fleet Santa Anan who is a greatly improved athlete this semester. Yocum sped

WOMEN GOLFERS TO CLASH TOMORROW

With Mrs. C. V. Doty holding "two legs" on the trophy and anxious to make it three which will give her permanent possession, Santa Ana Country club women golfers will play tomorrow for the Lorenz cup. Competition will be conducted all day, officials announced.

FULL OF FIGHT

"Tex" Stinnett, Santa Ana taxi driver, is on the Orange County Athletic club card again tomorrow night. The hard-hitting Stinnett will face George Reilmann, Los Angeles welterweight, in one of Promoter Foust's four-round preliminaries.

SENIORS CINCH REGISTER CUP ON CINDERPATH

Santa Ana high school seniors today had virtually cinched possession of The Register cup as interclass track and field champions for 1930, following the conducting of all but five events at Poly field yesterday.

With the completion of everything but the 880, the mile, the high jump, pole vault and relay, the seniors enjoyed a substantial lead of 26 points over their closest opposition—the juniors.

The last year men had a total of 52 points, the juniors 26 and the sophomores 21.

Although the relay will count 10 points for the winner, the seniors are virtually sure to have enough points before that race to assure themselves of the title.

The last five events will not be held until Monday, it is understood.

"Red" Kidder's double victory in the high and low hurdle races featured Tuesday's meet. The results:

100 yard dash—Lindsey (Jr) first; Cox (Jr) second; Harvey (Sr) third; Moreland (Sr) fourth. Time, 10 4-5 seconds.

440 yard run—Haskell (Sr) first; Blower (Soph) second; Donahue (Jr) third; Gerrard (Jr) fourth. Time, 59 seconds.

220 yard low hurdles — Kidder (Soph) first; Zirinsky (Sr) second; Herren (Sr) third; Chamberlain (Jr) fourth. Time, 28 seconds.

120 yard high hurdles — Kidder (Soph) first; Blair (Sr) second; Chamberlain (Jr) third; Harden (Jr) fourth. Time, 19 4-5 seconds.

Discus Beaver (Sr) first; Blower (Soph) second; Donahue (Jr) third; Lutz (Jr) fourth. Distance, 102 feet.

Shot put—Herren (Sr) first; Lindley (Sr) second; Padias (Soph) third; Tarver (Sr) fourth. Distance, 39 feet, 7 inches.

LOOKS FOR FULLBACK

ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—Coach W. A. Alexander of Georgia Tech is conducting an earnest search for a "three-yard" fullback. He is blessed with a surplus of fast, heavy linemen.

EVERY DAY IS BUSY IN LIFE OF NET QUEEN

BY VINCENT MAHONEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Here's a tip for speculators at next summer's tennis:

If, shocked officials of the U. S. L. A. T. to the contrary, you can find a bookmaker place your insurance money on Mrs. Frederick Moody jr. She is as good or better than Helen Wills.

In fact she has replaced Helen Wills as America's first lady of the courts.

Mrs. Moody, nee Helen Wills, surveyed her rather full existence today and found it to her liking. Here is about how it goes:

Up early. Two hours of drawing in the morning. Tennis for two or more hours. Luncheon. Art school in the afternoon. Dinner, occasionally with guests. If so she plans them. Writing in the evening.

"One hears so much talk, Mrs. Moody, about choosing between marriage and a career, as though there can't be both. It seems to me you are reconciling about three careers with marriage. How do you do it?"

'Oh well, it fulls up the days. I think it nice to have every hour accounted for in advance. To full each day, and full it well, seems more—well, more logical."

Here is how she feels about tennis:

She hopes to play in the French championships at Paris in May, the Wightman cup matches at Wimbleton in June, the Wimbleton championships later in the month and the American Women's singles championships at Forest Hills in August.

She likes the looks of Edith Cross of San Francisco, 17-year-old Sarah Palfrey of Massachusetts and Mary Griff of Kansas City.

She will play tennis in the future as Mrs. Frederick Moody, because tennis is not her profession. Art is. Writing may be and both will be done by Helen Wills.

"But tennis," she explained, "is not a profession, at least the national tennis association officials hope it is not."

LEMON, RIVERS TO BOX IN SAN DIEGO

Jack Walker, Santa Ana manager of boxers, left today for San Diego with the two aces of his stable who will box the main event at the semi-windup on the San Diego Coliseum show Friday night.

Romeo Lemon, Fullerton welterweight, is scheduled to meet Young Harry Wills, San Diego Negro, in a 10-round main event and Jimmie Rivers, Indian welter, will face Johnny Burris in a six-round semi.

San Diego matchmakers are dickering with Walker for a Lemon-Charley Cobb bout if Lemon gets past Wills.

STRIBLING ACCEPTS SHARKEY GO TERMS

MACON, Ga., March 5.—An offer of $100,000 "winner take all" for a fight at Waycross, Ga., between W. L. ("Young") Stribling and Jack Sharkey has been accepted by Stribling's manager, "Pa." Sharkey's attitude is not known. June 14 was mentioned as the date.

Glenna Collett, U. S. Golf Queen, Answers Critics

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 5.—A 74, which was eight strokes under women's par, was Glenna Collett's answer today to the critics who said her reign as America's queen of golf might be overtaken by some young challenger.

The tall, quiet girl who for so many years has headed America's feminine golfers, played her first golf of the season in the qualifying round of the Florida East Coast tournament and equalled her own course record with a 74—37 out and 37 back. Her score was only three strokes above men's par.

SOME SCORE

SOMERVILLE, Mass., March 5.—The St. Clement club of Medford defeated the Dorchester Celtics, 132 to 10, in a basketball game here recently. The winners used eight men during the game, none of whom caged less than five goals from the floor.

RED HURLER IS BRIDEGROOM

It's going to be just twice as hard this summer for "Hack" Wilson to clean up on Pete Donohue, Cincinnati Reds' pitcher. The reason is clear. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Donohue, married recently, were photographed shortly afterward. The pitcher's bride before her marriage was Frances E. Meyer of Louisville. Incidentally, it was the first marriage of each.

HORACE SNOW NEW PRESIDENT OF STARS; BILL COLE IS NAMED FIELD BOSS FOR 1930 SEASON

Climaxing a long and vigorous career in night baseball, a sport he helped make, Horace C. Snow, veteran captain of the Santa Ana Stars today assumed brand new duties with his club—those of the presidency, the highest honor his colleagues of the organization were able to pay him. Snow was elected president last night when business governors of the Stars met at Ketner's cafe to discuss plans for the coming summer season of games.

With new duties confronting him, Snow no longer will direct the crack night baseball club in its fight for the Southern California championship.

John Wilcox, another pioneer of the lunar racket here, was returned to office as business manager, and Dean Collver and Eddie West were re-elected treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Before retiring, President "Eeny" Wilcox outlined plans that had been tentatively made for the coming seasons. He said the Stars have signed a two-year lease with the city council for use of the Bowl two nights each week this summer, and that the outlook was encouraging despite the fact that both of last year's pitchers, Glenn Stockbridge and Joe Ochoa, will not be on deck.

The Stars will wear scarlet jerseys again this year, according to a decision reached by the management.

Cole, new field leader, announced that all candidates for the club would be expected to report at the Bowl for first practice Monday night, March 17.

RUETHER COACHES YOUTHS ON SEATTLE MOUND STAFF; FOUR OF TRIBE REMAIN UNSIGNED

By GEORGE SCHERCK

SAN CLEMENTE, March 5.—With his baseball trousers hanging to his ankles, a heavy sweat shirt sticking to his husky frame, a dilapidated cap on his head, "Dutch" Ruether, veteran hurler, set to work today toward making Seattle a winning ball club, if that is possible, in the Pacific Coast league.

Before opening practice had been 10 minutes old, Ruether was with the younger hurlers giving them fine points on the mound work. Soon he was the center of interest from ambitious hurlers.

Ruether

This Ruether is a valuable man if let to run his own course. And as Big Chief Klepper and Little Chief Johnson know his history, his abilities and his failings they know what to do. And they are doing it—letting "Dutch" carry on in his own way.

Ruether likes his baseball. He works at it in his own way. Now he's busy with the youngsters. He can hit, can coach on the base lines. And everybody knows he can pitch.

"Why when he throws his glove on the diamond the opposition rolls up and passes out of the picture," is the way the other veterans put it.

So there you have Ruether—pitcher, pinch-hitter, first baseman and coach.

Only four Seattle players have failed to arrive and they are expected daily. They are Charley Borreani, Fritz Knothe, Paul Zahniser and Rufus Smith. All the others have signed and Klepper expects little trouble from the missing quartet.

Walter McCredie, Detroit scout and man-about-the-Coast-league, hit town yesterday with Pitcher Rudio Kallio. You would never know your Rudy he is so thin. Pitcher Blevins was with the McCredie party also.

Pat Collins, former Yankee catcher, the man who looks like a wrestler and has a neck like "Strangler" Lewis, worked out. He says he feels fine and states he likes his training camp and new club. In fact, the boys have taken to the apartment home life like college intellectuals to Mencken.

"Chick" Ellsworth and Earl Kunz are the rabbit hunters of the squad. They go out every morning early, hike the hills and come back with rabbits. Ruether sometimes goes along. Kallio hit the golf course soon after arriving and had Taylor, Barbee and some of the rest for company.

Rudy Kallio

The first day's workout was just a limbering up session. Johnson was at second base with Taylor on first, Ellsworth on short and Muller on third. Cliff Lee and the rest of hte outfielders hit the ball hard.

Klepper says that a cut will soon be made. As the squad is small anyway only about five or six players will be given the gate. And these will be men that perhaps never had a chance anyway. McCreedie and the veteran think the plan of bringing tested ball players to the spring camp the best.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 5.—The mystery surrounding the failure of four Chicago White Sox players to put in an appearance at the training camp here had been swept aside today.

Officials have announced that Willie Kamm, Arthur Shires and Alex Metzler are seeking better contracts and that Smead Jolley has actually signed and is an honest delinquent.

AVALON, Calif., March 5.—The rookie pitchers attached to the Chicago Cubs training camp will carry the brunt of the hurling work this

RUPPERT HEADS SOUTH BUT NOT TO SIGN RUTH

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 5.—Like Mahommed compromising with the mountain, Col. Jacob Ruppert departed for St. Petersburg, Fla., today, uttering winged words of gladness that were intended to convey the impression that all was very jocular.

The Colonel wasn't worried. He even insisted that he wasn't. All he is going to do is decide whether he will pay Babe Ruth a bigger salary than the president of the United States or only as much.

So the colonel has nothing to worry about and is going to St. Petersburg for his health. The writer is willing to accept responsibility for the latter statement, since he got it directly from the colonel himself.

It is only a coincidence that Ruth is in St. Petersburg because the colonel became politely bored when the man's name was mentioned. Yes, he expected to see something of Mr. Ruth. When? It seemed that was difficult to say.

"It's all up to Ruth," said he, in loud, ringing tones. He meant to imply that it was all up to Ruth.

The suspicion that Ruth and the Yankees have reached a private understanding during the last 10 days likewise left the colonel unimpressed. He denied the allegation in loud, ringing tones.

"Haven't heard a word from Ruth since he left New York," he said in that light, bantering way in which a perfect stranger offers to punch you on the nose. "Nope. No compromise possible. We reached our limit with an offer of $75,000 and a two-year-contract. The next move is Ruth's. I'm not interested until he makes it."

The colonel's words carried conviction. He was speaking in loud, ringing tones.

RUTH, WEIGHING 222, SAYS HE'S IN SHAPE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5.—Babe Ruth, still unsigned but nevertheless working out with the New York Yankees, prepared today for a "showdown" with Col. Jake Ruppert, the club owner, on the money question. Ruppert is due here tomorrow night.

"Yes, I'm still a holdout but I don't want to discuss it in the papers," said Ruth at the ball park today as he slapped out a few "homers" for the edification of a large crowd of tourists.

Ruth was brown as a derby and seemingly in good physical condition. Hatless and wearing a heavy white sweater he went through his paces with the vim of a rookie. He was one of the last players to leave the field.

"I weigh 222 pounds and never felt better in my baseball career," Ruth told International News Service. "I've been getting in shape for weeks. I did a lot of bowling all winter and for the last six weeks I have been playing golf almost daily. I have been shooting in the seventies right along. The best score I've made was a 72."

Ruth looks better than at this time last year when he reported overweight.

PICK HORTON SMITH FOR RICH N. Y. JOB

NEW YORK, March 5.—Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., winter golf sensation of the past two seasons, has been engaged as professional for the new Gragston Yacht and Country club, now under construction in the old J. Pierpont Morgan estate a few miles below West Point.

Smith will return to New York after the completion of the Florida winter tournaments and immediately take up his duties at Gragston.

Smith will continue to play in the major tournaments. He is scheduled to compete in Europe this summer and will defend his title as French Open champion.

ADOPT NEW JERSEYS

ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—Georgia Tech football players, familiar figures in their golden-hued jerseys, will be equipped with white shirts for the 1930 playing seasons. The golden shirts will be worn most of the time, but the white ones will be worn when greater contrast is needed.

ABDICATES THRONE

Walter Hagen says he is not going to defend the British Open golf title he won in 1928 and 1929. He is now touring the Antipodes with Joe Kirkwood.

WILLARD TRACK SQUAD DEFEATS GARDEN GROVE

BY HAROLD YOUEL

The Frances E. Willard junior high school intermediates and eighth grade seniors of Santa Ana won a dual meet from Garden Grove grammar school at Garden Grove yesterday afternoon.

Totals gave Frances Willard 53½ points to Garden Grove's 28½, the intermediate score being 35 to 6 in favor of Willard and the senior count 22½ to 18½ in favor of Garden Grove.

The Indians have been very successful so far this season. In the three meets they have had they won all by wide margins.

The results:

Intermediates

Shot put—Foster (W) first, Valarde (W) second, McCollough (GG) third. Distance, 31 feet, 10 inches.

75 yard dash—Anderson (W) first, Foster (W) second, Valarde (W) third. Time, 9.2 seconds.

High jump—R. Clark (W) and Morse (GG) tied for first. Anderson (W) and A. Hein tied for third. Height, 4 feet, 4 inches.

Broad jump—Anderson (W) first, Valarde (W) second, Ida (GG) third. Distance 16 feet, 2 inches.

Relay—Won by Willard (Valarde, Ortiz, Noche, Foster.) Time, 44.3 seconds.

Seniors

Shot put—Hale (GG) first, Love (W) second, Montana (W) third. Distance, 37 feet, 6 inches.

75 yard dash—Swisheim (W) first, Hale (GG) second, Williamson (GG) third. Time, 8.5 seconds.

High jump—Hale (GG) first, Swisshelm (W) second, W. Morrison (W) and Goodrich (GG) tied for third. Height, 4 feet, 9 inches.

Broad jump—Swisheim (W) first, Christensen (GG) second, B. Morrison (W) third. Distance, 17 feet, 2 inches.

Relay—Won by Garden Grove. (Williamson, Hootan, Hale, Davidson.) Time, 45 seconds.

HE WANTS ROOM

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 5.—A football enthusiast in Lexington, Ky., opened the football season here today when his request for a room reservation was received at the Andrew Jackson hotel. The reservation was asked for week end of the Tennessee-Kentucky game. They will play here Thanksgiving day.

WILLIS MEETS CLARK: DUARTE FACES GOEDERS

BY RINGSIDER

Heinrich Trigonometry Foust, Santa Ana's boxing promoter, will spread a double main event before his Orange County Athletic club clients tomorrow night.

The cigar-smoking impresario has matched four of the hardest socking fighting men that ever appeared at the Delhi road arena.

"Jolting Joe" Goeders, the best prospect developed in his division here, meets a hot number from Los Angeles—Paul Duarte—in the other part of the double attraction.

Knockouts Likely

Both bouts are slated for a distance of six rounds. It is not likely that either will last that long. The boys hit too hard.

Foust says he isn't sure which mix will be the real main event. It is probable a flip of a coin will decide that just before ring-time tomorrow night.

Duarte is the only one of the "big four" with whom Orange county fans are not familiar. Duarte has boxed here, many times, but that was in the old days at Delhi when professionals were furtively termed amateurs. He can fight plenty unless he has gone back a long way. Certainly, he is the best piece of fighting machinery young Goeders has been asked to look at in Santa Ana.

The Willis-Clark set-to figures to be the best of the evening—unless Drewry finds Clark's chin too early. Clark's "glass" jaw has held him back from the front flight. He has everything else a high class fisticuffer needs—punch, heart, speed, boxing ability. Willis, on the other hand, can take 'em but can't give 'em like Clark.

Workhorses in Semi

"Wild Man" Macias and Young Joe Walcott, awkard but spirited workhorses, are booked for the six-round semi. Walcott is colored. He hails from Los Angeles and comes here described as a tough monkey.

Mickey Thomas vs. Bob Bahlke; "Tex" Stinnett vs. George Rielmann, and Freddie Coffman vs. Sid Fiorucci are the three four-round preliminaries.

Many of the fans will be there early to get a load of young Coffman, a Santa Ana ice peddler who was "hot" as an amateur at Pico

Foust expects a sellout this week. He is confident the change in nights from Tuesdays to Thursdays was just the tonic the little southside club needed. The new plan is to appeal to some of the lodges at that. Tuesday used to conflict with a good many fraternal organization meeting nights.

HOLDOUTS ARE NUMEROUS IN MAJOR LEAGUES

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, March 5.—Numerous major league stars have not signed their contracts for the 1930 season.

Babe Ruth has joined the New York Yankees, but has not signed his contract. Colonel Jacob Ruppert is scheduled to reach St. Petersburg, Fla., this week and confer with Ruth again over his demands for a two year contract at $85,000 per season.

Four New York Giants have not signed their contracts. They are Larry Benton, Freddy Lindstrom, Bob O'Farrell and Ed. Roush. Benton and Roush have advised John McGraw that they will report soon to talk terms.

Art Shires plans to buy a citrus fruit farm in the Rio Grande valley in Texas and turn fruit grower if the Chicago White Sox do not meet his demands for $15,000. Another absentee from the White Sox camp is Third Baseman Kamm, who is believed to be asking for more money.

"Goose" Goslin, Washington outfielder, has refused to communicate with President Clark Griffith and Catcher Roy Spencer has advised the Senators that he has no intention of accepting the contract offered him.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have two of the most serious holdouts of the year in Burleigh Grimes and Dick Bartell. Grimes wants a large increase and a two-year contract and Bartell is asking a salary on par with the other Pirate stars. Two-year contracts are against the Pittsburgh policy.

Outfielder Heinie Manush has definitely announced he is a holdout from the St. Louis Browns, and Shortstop Ralph Kress is believed to be demanding better terms. So is Pitcher George Blaeholder.

Catcher Johnny Heving of the Boston Red Sox has refused to sign his contract and is remaining at his home at Covington, Ky.

Frankie Frisch and Flint Rhem have refused to come to terms with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jimmy Welsh has announced he will retire before accepting the contract offered him by the Boston Brayes.

Herman Wants $15,000

Brooklyn has yet to sign Babe Herman, who wants $15,000; Ray Moss who wants $12,000 and Eddie Moore.

Chuck Klein, National league home run champion, and Rookie Pitcher Chet Nichols are holdouts from the Phillies.

All of the Philadelphia Athletics are signed except John McGrew, a recruit pitcher from the Omaha, Neb., Western league club. Al Simmons and Max Bishop are still training at Hot Springs.

The Chicago Cubs have every player signed.

SAINTS FACE BEACH SQUAD TOMORROW

over the single lap in 52.8 seconds against Glendale while Daneri was trailing Record of Pasadena by a yard in 53.2. Daneri, however, did not time his sprint properly in the Pasadena meet and is expected to give Yocum a terrific battle for first money.

Asa Herren is Santa Ana's lone hope in the 880 and mile, unless Bob Blair spring a surprise in the longer race. Rathbun, Long Beach, was clocked in 2:07 in the 880 while Neugerbauer made 4:57 in the mile, and these times are probably too fast for the local marathoners who will do well to place at all.

Asa Herren

Santa Ana's relay team of Reboin, Daneri, Nuzum and Paul figures to at least hold its own with the Jackrabbit quartet and, if the meet should be decided by the baton-passing affair, the Saints are quite likely to win.

Saint Hurdlers Supreme

Real Saint strength is concentrated in the two hurdle races and no Long Beach timber topper will head either Paul or Reboin under normal conditions. Smith, the Jackrabbits' best low hurdler, ran 27.6 last Friday but this will not get him better than a third against the two Saint phenoms, and Taylor's 17.2 mark in the highs will gain the Long Beach lad only experience against the able Reboin, who will not be afr away from 16 flat.

Reboin probably will bow to Grow in the pole vault, however. Grow is supposed to have cleared 12 feet, 3 inches in the Glendale meet and Reboin is not doing that well now.

Paul should win the shot put from Scharlin and Roscoe whose record is around 43 feet, and Gilbert figures to win the broad jump from Latz who has not yet cleared 20 feet. Paul Jacques, Oliver's sensational high jumper, is almost a cinch to beat Taylor whose best is 5 feet, 7 inches. Jacques is consistent at 5 feet, 10 inches. Daneri's throw of almost 120 feet gives him the edge over the Long Beach discus throwers who are approaching 118 feet.

La Barba Thrashes Santiago Zorrilla

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Fidel La Barba, who relinquished his flyweight crown to get into larger company, advanced a little in the featherweight division last night by winning a decision from Santiago Zorilla. La Barba gave his oppenent a terrific body beating and had him down for counts in the second and third rounds.

BEGIN SENIOR MEET AT JULIA LATHROP

Julia C. Lathrop junior high school's seniors turned in some good performances in their interclass track meet yesterday afternoon although the 75-yard dash, the high jump and the broad jump were the only events that were run off.

The other events will be held later in the week.

Shafer won two first places. He leaped 18 feet 3 inches in the broad jump and ran the 75-yard dash in 8:5 seconds. Three Lathrop athletes jumped more than 17 feet.

Aguago won the high jump at 5 feet 4 inches, this mark tying the Santa Ana junior high school record. Colzado, however, ran him a close second in this event. Four men tied for third at 5:1.

The results:

75 yard dash—Shafer first, Crawford second, Colzado third, Dunkin fourth. Time, 8 5-10 sec.

High jump—Aguayo first, Colzado second, Shafer, Bostic, Floyd and Dunkin tied for third. Height, 5 feet, 4 inches.

Broad jump—Shafer first, Floyd second, Colzado third, Aguayo third. Distance, 18 feet, 3 inches.

Children under 14 are now forbidden to attend either bullfights or boxing matches in Madrid.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

week-end when the Cubs engage the Los Angeles club in two exhibition games.

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 5—Two training grinds, comprised of morning and afternoon practice sessions, were scheduled for the Pirates today in the wake of the torrential downpour that marooned the Corsairs' squad in their hotel yesterday.

Manager Jewel Ens devoted most of his idle time to doping out tentative lineups for the annual practice games which begin Friday.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 5.—Jim Keesey, rookie first baseman of the Athletics, nursed a badly bruised right hand today as a result of misjudging a fly ball hit by "Bing" Miller during practice yesterday.

Three showed up yesterday and now there are eight!

This is the refrain at the spring training camp of the St. Louis American league club as the players continue to trickle in slowly, day by day. Manager Bill Killefer declared he knew no reason why seven of the eight men had not reported.

BRADENTOWN, Fla., March 5.—Frankie Frisch, the speedy second baseman who captains the St. Louis Cardinals, is the only member of the Red Birds who is not signed to a contract, President Sam Breadon revealed today. Frisch is expected to show up shortly.

SAN ANTONIO, March 5. — Still without the services of Freddie Lindstrom, Larry Benton and Bob O'Farrell, the New York Giants were due for a long workout today in preparation for their first regular ball game Thursday when they played Texas university at Austin.

Travis Jackson, shortstop, signed yesterday.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 5.—Especially to introduce their All-Spanish speaking battery, the Brooklyn Robins today announced the second team will play Tampa March 23. Adolfo Luque, pitcher, and Alfonso Lopez, will work for the Robins. While the seconds are in Tampa the first team will engage the Columbus team here on the same day.

BILOXI, Miss., March 5—The Senators' pitchers today were put through a series of swings at easy balls. Batting practice will be the daily fare until the ninth, when the regulars will arrive.

Tickets On Sale For Cage Battle

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Tickets for the University of Southern California - Washington basketball series for the championship of the Pacific Coast conference are now on sale at the B. H. Dyas company here and at the students' store on the Trojan campus. Seats are $1 and nearly all are reserved.

The games will all be played in Los Angeles in the Olympic auditorium, with the first two scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights and the third game, if necessary, slated for Monday. The Olympic holds approximately 8000 spectators when prepared for basketball.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

Offering an opportunity to thousands who were unable to hear the orations in any of the local or district contests of finals of the oratorical competition on "The Citizens' Obligation to the Eighteenth Amendment," conducted by The Register in the high school of the county, KREG, the official broadcasting station of The Register, today had completed arrangements which will bring the four finalists in the contest before the microphone with their addresses.

The first address will be delivered at 9:30 tonight and one will follow each night until the four have been presented.

The finalists, and the order in which they will appear in the KREG studio for their radio talks, are George Munro, 14-year-old junior in the Santa Ana high school, who won first prize; Clarence Block, of Fullerton, second prize; Orestell Long, Garden Grove, and Dante Siracusa, Huntington Beach.

Munro will bring his prize winning oration to KREG's audience at 9:30 tonight; Block will talk at 9 o'clock tomorrow night; Miss Long at 9 o'clock Friday night, and Siracusa at the same Saturday night.

CLEANING CAR TRACKS

BERLIN, March 5.—To keep the car tracks clean of dust and dirt, the local street car company has employed the use of a large vacuum sweeper. This sweeper is attached to a work car and the suckers are lowered over the tracks. As the car moves along the sweeper picks up all the dirt and dust collected in the tracks.

Tonight's program is loaded with feature attractions, including artists from the Holly Lash Visel studios, Dad Mitchell's old-time orchestra, Joe Sanford's orchestra, the Apache orchestra and the radio classes in "International Relations" and "Astronomy."

The program will open at 4 o'clock with studio entertainment, to be followed, from 4:30 to 5 o'clock, by the daily Children's hour with Inez Moore. The Shoppers' Guide musical program will fill the 5 to 6 hour and the 6 to 6:15 period will bring the nightly Cambria Pines program, featuring Dad Mitchell and his old-time orchestra. The J. C. The Visel studio program, opening at 8:15 and continuing to 8:45, will present 12 young women, with especially trained voices, in a program of semi-popular songs and several readings. The group numbers will include "Song of Night," "Can't You Hear Me Callin'," "Song of India" and "Roses of Picardy." Lorene Croddy, soprano, and assistant to Holly Lash Visel, and Margaret Wells, contralto, will be heard in several request duets, including "Medley of the South" and "Sing A-long," accompanied by Ione Tunison Peek.

PAIN IN YOUR SHOULDER?
Use Tysmol for Relief

Knife-like jabs of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder blade are generally due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to draughts or sudden changes of weather. In some cases there is stiffness or soreness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.

The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tysmol over the affected area. This soothing, healing preparation is quickly absorbed through the pores and carried to the throbbing, aching peripheral nerves. The pains usually stop at once, and in a very short time the last trace of soreness should disappear.

Citizens Protest Lincoln School Abandonment

BOARD DEVISES WAY TO RETAIN SCHOOL IN USE

After hearing a strenuous protest from a committee representing the Lincoln school patrons, the Santa Ana board of education in a special meeting last night, took official action to continue operation of the Lincoln school and indicated to the committee that some needed repairs would be made on the structure. The board had previously announced that Lincoln school and Jefferson school would be abandoned following completion of the Herbert Hoover and Woodrow Wilson buildings and another elementary school to be erected in the northwest part of the city, probably at Flower street and Santa Clara avenue.

Mrs. Earl Mathews, A. P. Dresser and John Knox presented the protest of the patrons, and asked that the board reconsider the decision in the matter. Mrs. Mathews told the board members that the district needs the school badly and that the school club regarded abandonment as poor business. She protested against sending the children of the district across Main street to school, which would result from the board's previous proposal of utilizing Washington school on Main street near Tenth for the pupils now going to Lincoln school. The plan of sending small children through the heavy traffic on the street, she characterized as unwise and unsafe.

Dresser, in his plea, seemed of a rather combative attitude, telling the board plainly that there was no limit to the lengths to which the patrons of the district would go to keep the school there. He also declared that the district was one of the most densely populated in the city, and that moving of the school and disposal of the property would mean a depreciation of property values there.

Knox asserted that he felt it would be an injustice to that part of the city to move away both the elementary school and the junior high school, but that the need for moving the junior high school was apparent and recognized. He asserted further that the district was growing and that additional apartment buildings were being planned.

Dr. John Ball, president of the board, explained to the delegation that the board did not intend to be arbitrary in the matter and that it had tried to reach a fair solution of the problems with which it was confronted. He suggested a solution in converting the Washington building into an administration building with offices for the board, superintendent and supervisors, thus making use of that structure to advantage after it is abandoned by the Frances Willard junior high school when the new plant is built. This would permit the sale of the present location of the administrative offices on Church street, to the county, which, it is stated, has been anxious to obtain the property.

This suggestion met the approval of the entire membership of the delegation, since it would result in leaving the present Lincoln school available for continued use and make good use of the Washington building. The members of the delegation indicated to the board that they did not ask any assurance from the board other than that the school should be maintained there. This was followed by action of the board on a motion by Dr. Roy Horton, which was seconded by Dr. M. A. Patton.

Members of the committee appearing before the board last night, in addition to those who spoke, included Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. A. P. Dresser, Ernest Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Witt, Mr. and Mrs. John Newcomer, Herman Zabel and Earl Mathews.

LONDON, March 5.—Propeller-driven railroad engines have made their appearance in Scotland and Germany. The Scottish experiment is a cigar-shaped car guided by rails built on a series of steel trestles. It is hoped to carry 50 passengers thusly at 120 miles an hour. The German train is driven by two propellers and is built not unlike an armored car.

Speedy Relief for Sore Throat

This Doctor's Prescription Requires No Gargling

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often and became so popular that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put in up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by McCoy's Drug Stores, and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

'MIRACLE' SAVES PILOT

Here is all that remained of the airmail plane which crashed near St. George, Utah, recently, throwing out Fred Kelly, crack pilot. Kelly, who graduated from the Orange Union High school, and served as an aviator in the World war, suffered a fractured vertebra. He was hurled free of the blazing plane. Over 200 pounds of airmail were destroyed in the flames. Kelly is a former Olympic games champion high hurdler and was a track star at the Orange High school and at the University of Southern California.

BOARD AWARDS CONTRACT FOR ROAD WIDENING

The contract for widening West Seventeenth street, which was awarded by the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon, went to the firm of Bruce Brothers, of Long Beach, at a bid of $39,725.63. Eleven bids were received by the board and tabulated by County Superintendent of Highways Nat Neff, who reported that the Bruce Brothers organization had turned in the low figure. Other prices for the work ran up to a high of $52,584.08. Estimates for the cost on the project were $63,000 and the contract was awarded at a figure some $23,000 less than the estimate.

The work to be done consists of widening the paved road from 15 feet to 30 feet for a distance of four and one-half miles, beginning at Huntington Beach boulevard and continuing to the Los Alamitos road, with the exception of the strip through Westminster, which is already full width. It is planned that the road will connect with a proposed new direct route into Long Beach.

The board also heard a discussion of the proposed Century boulevard into Orange county from Los Angeles, but took no action on this matter.

An appropriation of $500 from the advertising fund was made by the board to help defray the expenses of the Orange county entry at the California Land show, opening soon in Los Angeles. The balance of the fund has been provided by appropriations from various city bodies and from realty boards, according to Herb Alleman, who appeared before the board to request the appropriation.

Publicity Means Nothing To Him

RICHMOND, Va., March 5.—It may be nice to see one's name in print, but the idea is not worth 40 cents to Dr. James M. Whitfield, city coroner.

He received a card from a clipping bureau, stating that for 40 cents it would send him a clipping from a New Lork newspaper containing a highly interesting story in which his name appeared.

PLAN CAMPAIGN TO MODERNIZE S. A. BUILDINGS

For the purpose of completing their organization and making plans for an active campaign, the Santa Ana Modernization bureau will hold a dinner meeting at Ketner's cafe tomorrow at six p. m., to which the general public has been invited. The meeting was announced by J. W. Estes, temporary chairman of the organization.

The purpose of the bureau, it was announced, is to inaugurate a movement to bring the appearance of the city up-to-date and to modernize the homes both from a standpoint of utility as well as appearance. Two of the major projects now being handled in the business district are on Fourth street, one between Sycamore and Broadway and the other extending east from the corner of Birch street.

The principal speaker at the meeting will be Jack Dione, publisher of the California Lumberman and the Gulf Coast Lumberman. Earl Bowe, a modernization specialist, will be the other speaker and will illustrate his talk on the practical phases of home modernization. Reservations may be made through Herb Alleman or the Orange County Builders' exchange.

PLANNING BODY TO MEET CITY HEADS

Heads of all city planning commissions in the county, or chief executives of cities having no planning commissions, will meet tomorrow morning with the recently organized Orange county planning commission at the invitation of the latter body, for a discussion of a unified program.

The co-operation of all sections of the county in a program for the best development is expected to be secured through the efforts of those attending the session tomorrow morning. It will be the third meeting of the county commission, which is working out the details of its task. Dr. Walter Bigham is president of the county body and Mrs. Clara Cushman is secretary.

SUPERVISOR TELLS AIMS OF SPEECH IMPROVEMENT WORK IN SCHOOLS OF SANTA ANA

Mrs. Amy G. Miller, supervisor of the speech improvement department of the Santa Ana public schools, outlined the aims of the department today and pointed out that this city is one of the few communities of its size in the state to employ a special teacher and inaugurate this type of instruction.

"To one uninformed about this field of education, speech improvement might mean correction of faulty grammar or pronunciation," said Mrs. Miller. "But the lessons we give are to improve the voice organs. Deviations from perfection which we now are correcting include lisping, baby talk, infantile speech, retarded or delayed speech, oral inactivity and mumbling or indistinct speech.

"The educational world considers speech the highest development of man. Speech is acquired through imitation. If a child has no physical defects, no ill health, is brought up under normal conditions, and hears good speech, he will have good speech. If he acquires baby talk and doesn't drop it by the time he is five years of age, it is likely to become set in his mechanism and he will start to school with a speech defect. Baby talk will usually cling longer to a child of nervous, sensitive tendencies.

"Stammering is not a speech defect. It is a nervous disorder due to a lack of co-ordination between the brain and muscles of speech. The rhythm of speech is broken. The whole mental fabric of a stammerer is askew. He even stammers in his thoughts. To cure him we must unearth the cause, if possible. We must remove the difficulties, as far as we can, and re-educate the brain centers.

"First of all a stammerer must learn to relax. He must think differently, build up a strong body and a right system of breathing and talk in a way to develop rhythm in his speech. Hardest of all, he must learn to control his emotions, change his attitude toward life and have respect and confidence in his own ability. He must develop poise and self control, and face the realities of life in the best possible way."

Mrs. Miller, who has been in educational work for the greater portion of her life, became interested in speech improvement work when she was studying at Columbia university. She also has had a summer term in the University of California at Los Angeles. Last summer in San Francisco she studied under Mabel Farrington Gifford, superintendent of speech improvement for the state department of public instruction, securing a special state credential in speech improvement.

DAIRYMEN OBJECT TO MILK SKIMMER

Discussion of the skimming plant operated by creameries at San Bernardino in handling surplus milk supplies, and charges that its operation results in beating down the price for all milk producers in this area, will be featured next Saturday morning at a meeting of the California Dairymen's league at the Excelsior High school, near Artesia.

The meeting will be addressed by C. H. Cordray, organizer of the league; A. O. Dinsmore, president of the organization at El Monte; and M. Olivero, of Chino, member of the board of directors. It is reported that there is now a membership of 250 dairymen in the Orange county branch of the organization, and a large attendance is anticipated at the meeting.

BOARD INVITES HURWITZ TO BE CAMPAIGN HEAD

Discussion of the coming bond election to provide funds for a new junior high school in Santa Ana resulted at a meeting of the board of education last night in a decision to request Sam Hurwitz, local merchant, to serve as chairman of the citizens' committee. This group will act as an advisory body to the board in problems connected with the carrying out of plans to erect the new structure.

The board also decided to ask members of the former advisory committee to assist the new group to be formed. The bond election is scheduled for April 3, when citizens will ballot on the proposal to issue bonds in the amount of $496,860 for needed junior high school buildings.

Members of the board last night insisted that specifications for the new buildings include provision for considering local purchase of materials to be used in construction. It was pointed out that some of the state products are being specified and the board went on record as favoring the adoption of local products in every instance where quality would not be sacrificed thereby.

The board also had a conference with Cliff Greenleaf last night relative to the purchase of his property on West Santa Clara avenue at Flower street for the location of the proposed school to supplant Jefferson school, which is to be abandoned. The board had made a previous offer of $4500 per acre to Greenleaf, the highest appraisal made on the property by committees authorized to handle the matter, but Greenleaf had stated he wanted $6000 per acre. The conference last night was in an effort to avoid condemnation proceedings, which Greenleaf stated he was anxious to avoid. He declared, however, that any offers of less than $5000 per acre must lead to court action.

Relative to this site the board has been advised in a letter from the Santa Ana planning commission that it would not recommend this site for school use or any site facing on Santa Clara avenue or Flower street. Board members indicated that they felt hopeful of getting the matter satisfactorily settled with the planning commission.

Routine matters considered by the board last night included purchase of window shades and other equipment for elementary schools. The board went on record as favoring the use of linoleum in all school kitchens in the future and of purchasing draperies for kindergartens as school equipment rather than having them furnished by P.-T. A. organizations.

NOTED BRUSSELS QUARTET

Lauded as a string quartet whose programs of chamber music have seldom been equalled and never surpassed, the Pro Arte String quartet of Brussels, Belgium, is to appear in Santa Ana Friday night under the auspices of Ebell's International Artist series committee. Tickets for the performance in the high school auditorium at 8:15 p. m., are now available at the Santa Ana Book store.

PRO ARTE FOUR IS NOTED FOR UNIFIED WORK

Pointing out that technical perfection in a string quartet is possible only when the members of the group have been in constant association over a period of years, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, acting chairman of the Ebell International Artist series which is bringing the Pro Arte String quartet, of Brussels, to this city Friday night, today explained that the four members of the organization had been playing together ever since their conservatory days before the World war.

These four Belgian musicians, Alphonse Onnou, Laurent Halleux, Germain Prevost and Robert Maas, were fellow students in the Brussels conservatory. Drawn together by their mutual interest in ensemble playing, they studied and read everything they were able to find on the subject. Immediately after their graduation they formed the Pro Arte quartet and were attaining a decided success when the war came and all enlisted.

All came through the conflict alive, and immediately after the Armistice, formed their quartet again and went to Italy, where they spent three years in preparation for the concert world. After a formal debut in Brussels, they met with marked success in all the European capitols, and repeated that success upon each of their three earlier tours of the United States.

The first of these was in 1926, and their present and fourth tour began with a concert in New York on February 2, when they played for the League of Composers. The Santa Ana concert will be given in the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 p. m. Friday.

BANKERS WILL HEAR TALK ON TRUST SERVICE

Officers and employes of the Orange county branches of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings association will attend a conference in Santa Ana tonight on the subject of trust service and the conservation of estates for family protection and other specific uses. The discussions will be conducted by Caxton P. Rhodes, assistant vice president from the head office of the bank in San Francisco.

This will be the first of a series of six weekly lectures. The course covers not only the functions of a bank as a trust company but also the essential principles of wills, trusts and property rights. A series of 100 questions is used as the basis for an inquiry into the entire field of law and of banking and business practice involved in the management of property during one's lifetime, in its conservation and its final distribution after death. A general public interest in such questions has developed in recent years because of the widespread distribution of corporate securities and the growing realization that moderate sized estates as well as large ones may be made much more profitable through well planned management. In view of this general community interest, an invitation to the meetings in Santa Ana has been extended to various professional groups in Orange county, to business men and to the general public.

The meeting will be held in Ketner,s cafe, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Quill Pen Club Meets to Read Manuscripts

Since several members of the Quill Pen club are writing connected stories, interest in the contributions have increased at each meeting. Last night when the members of the organization met in the home of Mrs. S. B. Marshall, 2116 North Main street, Mrs. J. U. Viau read the newest of her installments of a story intended as a newspaper serial.

Roll call was answered by character sketches, that given by Mrs. Maude Goff being declared especially amusing.

Mrs. Harry M. Smith read a story of an Italian girl who accompanies a fellow countryman to America and finds, when he is killed, that he is a notorious rum-runner. The story was based on a newspaper clipping.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell of Orange, read a story intended for submission to a young people's magazine. A young girl's ambition to have "Something to Do" was the basis of the plot.

Following the reading of the manuscripts, Mrs. Marshall served dainty refreshments. Two guests were present, Miss Anne Marshall, sister-in-law of the hostess, and Miss Dorothy Clarkson.

Alaskan Experiences Told Members of Woman's Club

While members of Santa Ana Woman's club remained in their accustomed meeting place at the Church of the Messiah yesterday afternoon, in spirit they wandered far to the northward, accompanying Mrs. James G. McCracken of Garden Grove to her former home, Valdez, Alaska, and sharing with her, the interesting experiences she once had in that snow-swept little port.

Valdez, according to Mrs. McCracken, is the northernmost town in the United States whose port remains open the year around, and in her informal but most interesting account of her life there for over two years, she told among other historical details, of its founding in 1898, and of the railroad whose construction through the pass gave Rex Beach his inspiration for "The Iron Trail," many of whose characters were known to her personally.

Its situation on Valdez bay following the straits of Prince William sound, the towering mountains, multiplicity of glaciers, long snowy winters, brief but brilliant summers, and above all, the true hospitality of its citizens, were all dwelt upon very entertainingly by the speaker, who made her narrative delightful by little personal details. These included one amusing instance where Valdez experienced an egg famine and she had but five eggs in the house with which to bake cakes in anticipation of a party of over 75 guests. Complications were added when unexpected friends arrived by dog-train from Fairbanks, over 300 miles to the northward, but with that adaptability which seems to be a part of Alaskan life, hostess and guests brought the affair through successfully.

Mesdames Marian Brett, H. W. Witman and M. J. Marks had arranged for the program and in the roll call each member was asked to tell some one thing she knew about Alaska. Mrs. Willam Whitehead, club president, presented Mrs. Annie Arnold as a new member.

Of special interest to everyone present was the letter read by Mrs. W. A. West, who had been appointed by Mrs. Whitehead to represent the club in its kindly attentions to James S. Hopkins, a veteran of the World war now in the hospital at San Fernando. Mrs. West had chosen gifts which she knew would be suitable to him and much appreciated, and his letter voiced that appreciation, telling also of his hope for health, and of his little family of wife and two sons, Jack, aged 8, and Robert, 5. The kindly clubwomen mean to continue their aid and cheer to him and his family.

Mrs. Perkins Hostess To Members of the Mayflower Club

Mrs. Archie Perkins of El Modena, was hostess yesterday to the members of the Mayflower club with a delightful party at her home. Carrying out the charming St. Patrick's day motif, the hostess used orchid sweet peas, daffodils in low bowls, not only in the table appointments but also in the menu itself, was the motif observed.

Plans were made for a mountain outing April 1, at the J. Babbitt cabin in Trabuco canyon. The guests will motor to the canyon and enjoy a day of sports.

The guest list for the occasion included Mrs. Eureka Osborne, Mrs. M. R. Kellogg, Mrs. William Lawrence, Mrs. W. R. Ford, Mrs. F. S. Berneir, Mrs. P. T. Isherwood, Mrs. F. M. Cunningham, Mrs. W. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. C. Wiebe, Mrs. Bertha Cary, Mrs. H. E. Stuessy, Mrs. V. C. Shidler, Mrs. A. T. Perkins, Mrs. A. W. Parkinson, Mrs. Robert E. Smith, Mrs. Amelia Perkins, Mrs. Roy C. Butler and Mrs. J. Wedding Anniversary Is Observed at Orange Clubhouse

There was nothing about the flower-filled, cheery rooms of the lovely Orange Woman's clubhouse when it served this week as the setting for a celebration of the golden wedding anniversary reception of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Callahan, of 2117 Santiago street, pioneer residents of Santa Ana, to remind the couple of the ceremony half a century ago when they were married.

Then, in a bleak cold of a March in Kansas, at the home of the bride's cousin in Pottawatomie county, proudly arrayed in a sweeping gown of ivory satin, with huge mutton-leg sleeves and a shimmering veil, the pretty young woman of 20 years became the bride of Mr. Callahan, who was then 24 years of age. Because of the extreme cold and the piercing winter winds which swept the country, there were no flowers about the home, and the very mince pies which awaited the sumptuous wedding feast were found to be frozen and had to be thawed at the open fireplace.

This year, surrounded by baskets and vases of golden rosebuds, powdery gold acacia blooms and a myriad of other California blossoms, Mr. and Mrs. Callahan received their guests from states throughout the country. Mrs. Callahan wore a dainty light blue gown with a strand of pearls. Following the reception, an immense, towering wedding cake in creamy yellow, with golden rosebuds decorating it and molded orange ice cream were served to the guests, who in their turn had observed the happy occasion with many gifts of gold money, gold china, and other offerings.

Hosts for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Ludy Schaffer of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chapman of Orange and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fenn of Fort Laramie, Wyo. By a strange coincidence, the marriage ceremony of Mr. and Mrs. Callahan fifty years ago was performed by Mr. Fenn's father, and Mr. Fenn, who was then a small lad, witnessed the marriage.

During the reception, a group of piano solos was played by Miss Frances McInteer of Tustin. Enjoyable conversation and reminscing was also enjoyed by the group of 50 people.

Since their arrival in California, when they came to Santa Ana and Mr. Callahan established the first blacksmith shop in Tustin, in 1901, the Callahans have seen their children grow up, marry and have families of their own. Mr. Callahan has been for many years employed as blacksmith by Orange county, and is still an active worker. This year, their relatives from Kansas, Wyoming and other states assembled to extend good wishes to the couple who have made so many friends during their long stay in Santa Ana.

The guest list for the reception included Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Edwards of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Bigelow of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Richards of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman of Santa Ana; Harold Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. L. Coney of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elsay of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Wilson of Harbor city; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Chaudet of Bellflower; Mr. and Mrs. Flo Jackman and Miss Virginia Jackman of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Helms of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner of Orange; George McFarland of Bakesfield; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schlasman of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McInteer of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Mastich of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Chapman of Santa Ana; Adelbert McInteer of Tustin; Miss Margaret Young of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Fenn, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Duguid, and James Fenn of Fort Laramie, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chapman of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Ludy Schaffer and Joe Stroup, Miss Marion Stroup of Santa Ana.

Medical Auxiliary Hears Address By Dr. Sutherland

Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, county health officer, delivered the address at the meeting of the auxiliary of the Orange County Medical association yesterday afternoon. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. R. A. Cushman, 632 North Broadway, with Mrs. Dexter A. Ball assisting as hostess. The physician gave an intensely interesting talk regarding county health administration.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter presided at the meeting. Mrs. Robert S. Wade, of Santa Ana; Mrs. D. C. Cowles, of Fullerton, and Mrs. F. L. Chapline, of Orange, comprise the program committee which was appointed by the presiding officer.

Plans were also made during the formal business session for the entertainment of women who will come to this city with their husbands April 4 and 5, to the Southern California Medical association meeting. The committee to arrange for the delegates' pleasure included Mrs. Harry Huffman, Mrs. H. M. Robertson, Mrs. R. P. Yeagle, Mrs. J. I. Clark, Mrs. H. A. Johnston and Mrs. Dexter A. Ball.

Following the business, the 27 members present adjourned for refreshments and a social hour. Mrs. Harry Zaiser presided at the coffee urn, while Mrs. W. F. Kistinger poured tea. Tables were laid with dainty appointments and the hostesses carried out a cheerful color scheme in red and blue hues with green candles lending a mellow glow to the atmosphere. Lovely bouquets of acacia blooms were furnished by Mrs. Harry Zaiser.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held Tuesday, April 1, at the home of Mrs. F. H. Paterson of 2415 Heliotrope drive.

Cantando Club Members Entertain at Annual Dinner Dance

Euterpe and her sister goddess, Terpsichore, two of the most delightful of the nine muses were present in intangible but nonetheless convincing form last night, when men of the Cantando club entertained at Santa Ana Country club, at their third annual dinner dance, and according to custom, delighted their guests with a series of songs.

Perhaps the sparkle of raindrops without, and their steady beat on the wide windows of the clubhouse added to the sense of gaiety within. At least the dinner hour seemed all the more brilliant by contrast, and the spring motif in the chorus of the rain had delightful little grace notes of sweet peas sounding from the tables. Scattered the full length of each long table, they bespoke the generosity of Mrs. Angus J. Cruickshank and Mrs. J. R. Paul, who had gathered and sent them for the occasion.

Warren Hillyard as entertainment chairman, was presented by F. C. Rowland in connection with a friendly little talk outlining the hopes and aims of the club for the coming year. During the program Mr. Rowland also announced the new board of directors appointed at the annual meeting Monday afternoon and the board's meeting yesterday afternoon at which Warren Hillyard was named chairman. Alex Garroway and Frank Lansdown were named from the old board to continue their activities for the next two years, while Hillyard, Jack Lloyd and Charles Wollaston were named as new members, the two former for the period of two years, and the latter for one.

One of Mr. Hillyard's pleasant duties as chairman of the evening, was to present a group of special guests including Miss Corinne Pennington, lovely queen of the American Legion Mardi Gras, her escort, Mr. Barker, and "King Rex" who in private life is D. Eyman Huff, and who was accompanied by Mrs. Huff. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Eckols, Mr. and Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. Hillyard, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Scales and Miss Ruth Armstrong completed the group at this special table.

Mrs. Scales was the first artist to be presented, and with Miss Armstrong playing her usual spirited accompaniment, sang "Make Joy Home" by Bassett, and very appropriately, "Rain, Rain, Rain." She was followed by the quartet composed of Alex Garroway, first tenor; Hayden Bohlander, second tenor; Hugh Runnells, baritone, and Walter Vieira, bass. Their first group included "When Honey Sings an Old-Time Song" and Tosti's "Goodby," while later in the evening they added other equally lovely numbers, including "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Love."

Mr. Gustlin added two brilliant piano solos to the program, a Rachmaninoff "Prelude" and Charles Wakefield Cadman's eccentric little composition dedicated to Charles Chaplin, and called "To a Comedian." Reginald Taylor gave two solos, "Invictus" and Moussourgsky's "The Flea," while singing at different times during the evening, the Cantando club as a whole added such varied and thoroughly delightful numbers as "Old Heidelberg" from "The Prince of Pilsen," "At Father's Door," a Russian folk song; "Service" by Cadman; and others.

Adding variety to the program, were two musical readings by Miss Margaret Gaebe, "The Message of the Fan," and an amusing child study, "Nervous—That's All." Other than very brief talks at the dinner hour by the guests at the speaker's table, and Mr. Rowland's message in which some of the delightful things in store for the club patrons at the next concert were suggested, the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing with Sanford's six-piece orchestra furnishing the program.

Gowens Entertain With Two Affairs Recently

The J. E. Gowen home, 928 Spurgeon street, was the scene of two delightful events the past week. On Tuesday the S. O. S. bridge club was entertained at a one o'clock luncheon. The long table was beautiful with pink and orchid sweet-peas and was lighted by tall pink tapers while nut cups of pink and orchid carried out the chosen color scheme.

After the games first prize was awarded to Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, second to Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner while table prizes were presented to Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. C. A. Vance.

On a subsequent evening Mrs. Gowen, who is retiring president of chapter A B P. E. O., entertained the members of this chapter and their husbands. Over forty were in attendance.

An old-fashioned art exhibit was an amusing feature of the evening which was an unusually merry one. Many of the guests participated in "a peculiar program." The "Picked piece per professional picker" and "the puckered piece per professional puckerer," were rendered by Harry Hansen and Holmes Bishop respectively. "Proper provision passed" brought to a close a most delightful evening.

The host and hostess were complimented by the guests for their ingenuity in preparing so original and delightful a program.

Modern Poetry Section Discusses Anthologies

Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch shared her hostess honors with Miss Vanche Plumb yesterday afternoon when they were hostesses to members of the poetry section of the Santa Ana Ebell club at the home of Mrs. Hatch, Mortimer street.

Masses of large daffodils, early iris and tall snapdragons in exotic shades, from the garden of Miss Plumb were used about the home.

"Modern Anthologies of Poetry" was the topic discussed very interestingly by Mrs. M. C. Malony, who was the speaker of the day. Mrs. Maloney told in her discussion how the word, "anthology" was derived from the Greek language, where it meant "a gathering of flowers," or the culling of the choicest of a collection.

Mentioning the contention of Braithwaite, who said that anthologies should be to "stimulate interest, rather than to satisfy curiosity," the speaker spoke briefly of some of the 145 existant anthologies of poetry, reading some of the poems which especially appealed to her.

The next meeting of the section, in April, will be at the home of Mrs. Robert C. Northcross, and Mrs. Edward M. Nealley will speak on Kathleen Millay, sister of Edna St. Vincent Millay, and on Dorothy Parker, whose quizzical, entertaining and vivacious poems have found a great many admirers.

With her home at 409 West Eighth street lavishly adorned with spring's loveliest flowers, Miss Henrietta Bohling, worthy high priestess of the White Shrine, entertained last week as a compliment to the officers who have assisted her so generously in making the past year an interesting and valuable one for the general membership of the order.

Bridge was the evening's diversion, and everyone present received a prize, for the hostess presented pieces of handsome Australian pottery to her women guests, and equally suitable gifts to the men, while at the same time, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Patterson distributed charming gifts among the officers as a token of their appreciation of the co-operation given Mr. Patterson in his duties as watchman of the shepherds.

At the close of the evening Miss Bohling arranged the card tables with exquisite linens, centering each one with a pale yellow taper and using nut cups and other appointments in pastel tones as an accompaniment to the appetizing menu served.

The hostess expressed special appreciation of the work done by official substitutes during the year. First Travel Section Ebell Enjoys Luncheon

Relating some of the very interesting experiences which she had during her recent trip to Honolulu, as well as describing the beautiful scenery which she saw, Mrs. E. B. Smith, who was hostess to the members of the First Travel section of the Santa Ana Ebell club at her home, 106 South Birch street, Monday provided an especially enjoyable program for the section.

Mrs. Smith, who was assisted in her hostess preparations by Mrs. William Smart, used a large centerpiece of vivid sweet peas and jonquil blooms, and carried out a St. Patrick motif in the other decorations and appointments.

Because of Mrs. Smith's talk on Honolulu, from which she returned last week, and from which place she had many pretty purchases to show her guests, there was no reading yesterday, as is usually the custom.

Guests of Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Smart were Mrs. A. W. Ames, Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner, Mrs. M. F. Heathman, Mrs. Stephen Ross, Mrs. Lynn Shaw, Mrs. W. L. Tubbs and Mrs. I. W. Van Cleave.

At the conclusion of an interesting contest, Miss Mignonne Swales of this city and Miss Elizabeth Lemon of Garden Grove, were presented prizes for special scores, while the good luck prize was awarded Miss Mabel Wiseman of this city.

Hermosa Chapter

Unique in the fact that five men were initiated into the order, last night's meeting of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., was an interesting one with the initiatory degree conferred by Mrs. Marie Beisel, worthy matron, Kennith Burns, worthy patron, and their staff.

The five men were Messrs. Fred Henry Pope, Winslow W. Hyde, John Herman Shaw, Coker F. Rathbone and Albert Isenor, and they were accompanied by Mrs. Jeanette Terwilliger, who was received by transfer from another chapter.

Refreshment chairman for the evening was Mrs. Hannah Stuessy, assisted by Mrs. Eureka Osborne, Mrs. M. Kimball and Mrs. Julia Tony. The next meeting will be a St. Patrick's party on March 17.

ORANGE, March 4.—The Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs of the high school furnished three spirituals for the Men's Bible class Sunday morning at the Colonial theater. A quartet sang "In the Time of Roses." Members of the quartet were Dulcie Green, Alberta Curl, Gordon Nockell and Lorrine Harrison.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

I am not prepared to defend the accuracy of this statement, but it comes from a national congressman from New York, Fiorelli La Guardia, who last year ran for Mayor of New York City. Said he:

"Prepared salad dressings have broken up more homes than all the chorus girls in the world."

How much of an authority La Guardia is on divorce, I do not know, but he has the reputation of being the most talented cook in Congress. Men who disagree with him utterly on policy, agree unanimously on the excellence of his spaghetti.

I have no doubt but he is a wizard with olive oil, lemon juice, paprika, and all the ingredients that go into the making of excellent dressing.

I have nothing against prepared dressings, but I do believe that serving a good salad, with a distinctive dressing that you make yourself, and use your own imagination on, is a social asset within easy reach.

Any waiter in a French cafe can mix a dressing in a spoon that is a real delight, with just such unimportant items as would naturally be at hand on the table. He does it in the time he could open a can, and apparently has no sense he is doing anything remarkable.

When you hear the host calling for the materials, and know he is going to mix the dressing at the table, you know you are about to sit in on a very pleasant and interesting ceremony.

It may not hold your husband, and it may not immunize you from divorce troubles, but it is decidedly worth any person's time, I think, to learn to make good salad dressings, and good salads.

A PASSING PARADE

Among the dear old customs that is passing, and that should pass, is the Easter parade.

According to J. Perling, of the textiles division of "Commerce," women are no longer interested in this annual display of clothing—he points out that competition in clothes is now an all year round proposition, not seasonal.

Whatever the reason, it is a pleasure to know that a day that has such significance in itself, should have ceased to be a day in which every woman tried to outdo her neighbors.

If you load up any holiday with more than it will bear, it breaks under the strain. Easter has. So has the Fourth of July, which is now the sanest of days instead of a miniature battle. There is a tendency on the part of many people to make Thanksgiving less a day of gorging, and more of a normal calory day.

Christmas is still burdened to the breaking point, but it is bound to evolve into something beside a giving contest.

Westovers Are Hosts At Reunion Dinner Yesterday

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Westover were hosts Monday at a charmingly informal dinner party honoring Mr. Westover's parents, Judge and Mrs. J. H. Westover of Yuma, Ariz., who are now guests at the Westover home.

Mrs. Westover used the St. Patrick motif in her decorations, and had a table centerpiece of freesias and ferns.

Northern Guests Honored

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Stockebrand, 118 East 12th street were hosts at a prettily appointed dinner party recently honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Helms (Frances Stockebrand) of Alturas, Calif. Sweet peas were used in the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Helms spent Sunday in Palm Springs and left yesterday for Agua Caliente where they will spend the early part of this week.

Others present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Frevert and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pickering.

FOOLED 'EM

QUERETARO, Mex., March 5.—Mourners who attended the funeral of Jose Lozano were fooled when they got to the cemetery where Jose was to be interred. Just as the casket was to be lowered, Jose broke open the coffin and dashed away. It was found that instead of being dead he was merely suffering from a cataleptic fit.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

A Little Self-Advertising Helps, Too

Women must honestly admit that men haven't an easy row to hoe, and that they need and deserve the comforting shoulder pat of commendation to keep going.

At the same time women should not be depressed by the knowledge that there is no one behind them to say "attagirl" when the kitchen floor is well scrubbed or the meringue on the lemon pie extra light . . . they won't need that spur if they are conscious of the power that lies in their hands to make of husbands--and children—monuments to that supreme epitaph, "I did it."

Don't be afraid to stand up for what is your right and due. Don't think you are guilty of sinful vanity to even overvalue yourself and your accomplishments, for that is just one of the subtle ways nature has of impressing upon us the axiom, "Self-preservation is the first law of nature."

TODAY'S RECIPE
Onion Souffle

1 cup boiled onions
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
½ cup onion liquid
½ cup thin cream
3 eggs, whites beaten separately
Salt and pepper

Sulphur is one of the necessary mineral elements needed in the body and one that the system will accept in no other way than as nature provides it. Onions contain large percentages of sulphur, lime, magnesia and iron as well. All of these elements go to make a cleansing agent and help to build healthy blood.

• • •

Today's recipe saves all of the mineral elements which cook out of onions in boiling, for the onions are cooked slowly in a small amount of water and this water is saved and used in making the sauce. After cooking rub the onions through a sieve to make the required amount.

Melt and blend butter and flour, simmer five minutes before adding the onion liquid and thin cream. Stir until very thick and well cooked, add the onion pulp and keep warm over hot water while the eggs are being prepared.

Beat yolks creamy and whites dry. Whip the yolks into the onion mixture, season to taste, and fold in the dry white. Bake in a buttered pudding dish for 25 minutes, oven moderately hot. Serve as soon as baked, and use as a main luncheon dish or as part of a vegetable plate for dinner.

• • •

There are 1255 calories in the onion souffle and enough for four or six, depending on the meal at which the souffle is served. The butter and cream add much food value to the dish.

I had a great elimination contest going on for days . . . . trying to weed out the least desirable of the dessert recipes I use in the leaflet I am offering this week free of charge on receipt of your stamped, self-addresed envelope. JILTED LOVERS IN 'SECOND CHOICE'

Starring in her second all-talking production since her recent marriage to John Barrymore, Dolores Costello came to the State screen yesterday, in the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production, "Second Choice."

The lovely Dolores is first seen as the victim of a lovers' quarrel which causes the engagement to be broken. Dolores is thrown in the company of another man who has just been jilted by his sweetheart. Drawn together by the fact that each has become a "second choice," they are swept into an elopement and marriage.

It is only then that the lover of Dolores, realizing what he has lost, takes steps to regain the girl of his dreams. The result is a screen play that is highly dramatic.

Supporting the lovely Dolores in "Second Choice" are Chester Morris, Jack Mulhall, Edna Murphy, Charlotte Merriam, Ethlyne Clair, Jimmy Clemmons, Edward Martindel, Harry Stockbridge and Anna Chance. The absorbing drama of young love is based on the story by Elizabeth Alexander.

MARRIAGE DRAMA TO END RUN HERE

Coming to a close after a three-day run, "The Marriage Playground," Paramount all-talking story of divorce and what it has to do to the children, will be seen and heard at the Fox-West Coast theater for the last time tonight.

With Frederic March and Mary Brian in the leading parts, the acting in the show is as clever as has been seen here in several months. Lilyan Tashman, Huntley Gordon and Kay Francis also have leading roles, while the acting of five children, the brightest in pictures, is outstanding.

Remarkable actors, these five children, all below their "teens," and some no more than six or seven, give a performance the like of which never has been seen here before. The story concerns the children of a couple who have spent several years in the divorce courts, and what happens to the children when their parents leave them alone to wander from one pleasure resort to another in France. Mary Brian plays the part of the oldest child, who attempts to take care of all the others.

AIR CRASH KEY TO 'SKY HAWK' PLOT

Showing some of the best night air battle scenes ever made, "The Sky Hawk," all-talking air thriller, which has been playing at the Fox-Broadway theater for the past several days, continues its run there today and closes tomorrow night.

The story concerns the air raids on London during the World war, a young soldier's daring method of wiping out gossip to the effect that he is a coward.

The story opens with the young officer, John Garrick, in a training camp. He falls in love with the sweetheart of his major, and they decide to marry before he is sent to France. His orders to the battlefront come before he expects them, and he breaks orders to fly to his sweetheart's home to tell her goodbye. On his return to the field he crashes and is so seriously injured that he is discharged from the service. Many believe he crashed purposely to avoid going to the front.

The girl gives him back his ring and he is confined to a wheel chair. How he stages a one-man air raid of his own, wins glory and the girl again, is the highlight of the performance. Helen Chandler has the feminine lead in the play, and Gilbert Emery plays the part of the major.

Laurel and Hardy, in their latest all-talking comedy, "Blotto"; a Grantland Rice Sportlight with dialogue, and a Fox Motietone news reel also are shown.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The plane kept moving right along before the wind that blew real strong. The Tinymites all wondered what was going to happen next. The plane tipped 'round from left to right. It seemed that it would drop from sight. The Tinies couldn't manage it. No wonder they were vexed.

Yelled Scouty, "Say, I just can't steer. Will someone else, please, crawl up here? I'll gladly let him have the wheel to see what he can do. I've tried to keep us going straight, but when we're traveling at this rate, I cannot seem to do a thing. As pilot I am through."

Then Clowny said, "I'll try it once. Of course I may turn out a dunce and know much less than you do, but at least it's worth a try." He then crawled right up to the wheel and soon the others heard him squeal, "My goodness, this is terrible. We'll drop down from the sky."

The plane had swung completely 'round and it seemed headed for the ground. Just then a big rainstorm broke loose and, my, how it did rain. "I guess we're doomed," wee Carpy cried. "This is a very frightful ride. Our plan was just to have some fun, but now that seems in vain."

"Oh, look!" cried Clowny. "I am wise. I'll do a trick before your eyes. I'll keep us all from getting wet. Now, hang on good and tight. I'm going to show you how a clown can make a plane turn upside-down. When I have done this little stunt, I think we'll be all right."

The next move made the Tinies sigh. The plane swerved 'round, up in the sky until the bottom side was up. The bunch heard Clowny shout, "Now, just hang on and swing your feet. I think my trick is quite a treat. We won't get wet, but hang here till the rain has all rained out."

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

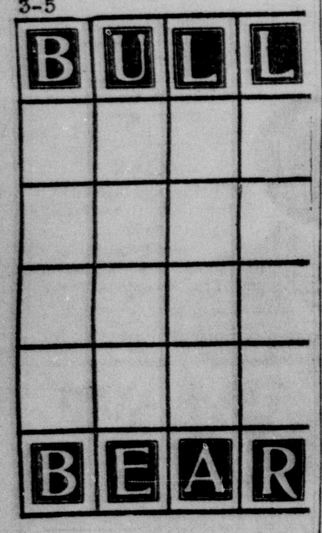

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

BULL to BEAR—There's bound to be a racket when a BULL and a BEAR encounter, especially on the links, so stick around and shoot this par four hole.

ANAHEIM

Warren L. Strickland, principal of one of the five new junior high schools of Compton and former principal of the intermediate grammar school of Anaheim, was in the city Tuesday to attend the funeral of Major De Sombree.

Church of Flowers Setting For Lovely Wedding

The ivy-covered Little Church of the Flowers in Glendale was the setting for a very lovely wedding Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when Miss Julia Hoffman, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hoffman, 1432 Echo Park boulevard, Los Angeles, was married to Wynton Hoyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hoyle, 1419 Durant street, this city. The impressive service was read by the Rev. D. V. Aldeman of Riverside.

A group of lovely old love songs were played by Miss Helen Walker Hamilton before the ceremony, and the Bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played as a processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as a recessional.

The bride wore a lovely creation of pale blue chiffon with a picture hat of blue and white lace. She carried pink rosebuds and pink sweet peas. The maid of honor, Miss Irene Logeman, of Hollywood, was frocked in pale pink georgette with a picture hat of lace in the same tint. She carried a bouquet of pink sweetpeas and preceded the bride up the flower-lined aisle of the church.

Bruce Bilger of Riverside served Mr. Hoyle as best man.

Both young people are graduates of the Santa Ana high school. The bridegroom has been a resident of this city since early childhood and the bride lived here for a number of years, her family coming here from Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle are spending a week's honeymoon in Coronado, and on their return will establish their home at 1118 North Sycamore street. Mrs. Hoyle wore a smart brown ensemble for traveling.

Mr. Hoyle will be connected with the Hugh J. Lowe company of this city and has been employed at Pomona until recently.

Yellow and Blue Used As Motif For Luncheon

Mrs. Roy Hall and Mrs. Joe Burke were co-hostesses yesterday afternoon at one of the series of Ebell vanishing luncheons. The affair was given at the Hall home, 420 South Birch street. A spring time color scheme of yellow and blue was carried out in the appointments of the attractive luncheon table and in the tallies at the bridge game which followed.

The table was centered with a lovely yellow bowl filled with blue Japanese lilacs and yellow ranunculus blossome were other flowers used in the spacious home. Blue candles set in crystal holders were used in lighting the rooms.

First prize at the bridge game was a yellow cookie jar which was awarded Mrs. Frank Preble for high score and second prize was a refrigerator set in yellow was presented to Mrs. W. L. Salisbury.

Those included in the guest list were Mesdames Clyde Walker, G. H. Goodwin, C. E. Bressler, W. L. Salisbury, S. J. Hales, C. E. Blacow, H. T. Trueblood, H. F. Towner, H. E. Wahlberg, Tarver Montgomery, Frank Preston and Miss Effie Douglass.

Luncheon Carried Out In St. Patrick's Motif

Concluding a series of delightful Ebell vanishing luncheons, Mrs. Clarence Nisson, Mrs. J. L. McFadden and Mrs. Fred Newcomb jr., entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Newcomb on Tustin avenue.

Appointments carried out a green color significant of St. Patrick's day. The home was beautified by masses of freesias, daffodils and flowering peach, while over the pretty table was shed the warm light of lighted green tapers.

Following the delicious three-course luncheon, bridge was enjoyed. First prize of a green quilted pillow was awarded Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, while the second prize a green crystal vase, was presented to Mrs. Agustus Allen. Tallies for the game, were of the same St. Patrick's green.

MUTT AND JEFF—Sometimes We Is Singular

CYCLIST AT 80 PEDALS ON TO SET NEW MARK

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 5.—(UP)—W. L. Jones, Civil war veteran and Terre Haute civic worker, has pedaled his bicycle more than 1,000,000 miles and he is still riding, although more than 80 years old.

During the severe winter months, when the streets were dangerously icy, Uncle Wash, as he is known, continued his daily rides down Garfield avenue.

Uncle Wash retired from business this winter, not because he or his employer thought he was too old, but because he and his wife believed someone else needed the job.

Uncle Wash learned to ride a bicycle 40 years ago, when he was an insurance salesman and collector.

"If you want to stay young, just get a bicycle and ride it until you've lived 80 years and more," Uncle Wash said, but he didn't tell how many years were covered by "more."

Mr. and Mrs. Jones already have signed papers leaving most of their property to a fund for the aid of aged Methodist ministers.

"It seems strange that Uncle Wash gives so much for the old ministers," a Methodist preacher said. "Most of the men he is helping are years younger than he."

Uncle Wash denied it. "I'm not old," he insisted, "I'm young. That's the reason I'll admit to being 80 years and more—young."

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—The bond market ruled steady to firm today and trading picked up increasing activity with a good demand for investment issues in all sections of the list as a result of the comfortable credit situation.

Urgent demand was again in evidence for the popular American Telephone 4½s convertible debentures, reflecting the company's record-breaking earnings report for 1929 and the favorable action of the relative stock. Other convertibles maintained a steady tone in a light volume of transactions.

High grade strictly investment issues in the railroad and industrial categories were well taken at fractional advances, with issues like Missouri Pacific 4s, Northern Pacific 3, Southern 4s, Erie Refunding 5s and Delaware and Hudson 3½s, Goodyear 5s and United Drug 5s. Utilities were steady, while amusement issues market the specialties, Paramount 6s being bid up almost a point.

Although subject to only a light volume of trading, the United States Government securities displayed a firmer tone than in some time. A new high for the year was scored by the treasury 3⅜s of 1943. Foreign obligations were very little changed, with French 7s, Belgian 6s and 7s, German 7s and some of the South American loans prominent on the tape around their previous closing levels.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK(March 5.—(UP)—Strong rallying tendencies persisted in leading curb stocks today, gains o fone to nearly five points taking place in various leaders before noon. Heavy selling broke out in Glen Alden Coal, however, which settled the whole list in the early afternoon.

Glen Alden was sold down to 102, a new low for the year and a loss of nearly 10 points from the previous closing level. Selling of this issue was stimulated by the directors announcement that the dividend rate had been cut to $8 from $10 annually.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, March 5—(UP)—Wheat failed to show any rallying power after its mid morning slump and closed a featureless day on the Board of Trade with prices sharply lower. There was no evidence of farm board buying and foreign news indicated that the export demand was as slow as ever. Even new crop news was discouragingly favorable. Corn and oats were down with wheat.

At the close wheat was 1⅝ to 1⅞c lower, corn was ½ to ⅞c lower and oats as unchanged to ⅛c lower. Provisions were sharply lower.

CURTAILING OIL PRODUCTION

Now it is proposed that a federal law be passed placing a lid on the refining of oil on the Sabbath day. No, this will not be done in the interest of religion, it will be done in the interest of the conservation of oil.

We are told that there are fifty-three millions of barrels of excess output. Ten millions of barrels of gasoline have been placed in storage since the first of the year. The supply is greater than ever before in our history, and the demand is less than it was two years ago.

No, the price is not reduced. What was that you said? How about the law of supply and demand? That law is not to be quoted in dealing with oil and gas as determining prices. That is for farm produce and labor. The pressure is very great now on some companies to reduce the price of oil or gas, because of this surplus, and it is proposed that the federal government shall render assistance. This is all done in the interest of future generations.

The reason which is given for this reduction of output is that we are too prodigal in handling this product, and the people of the future will need this supply. One would imagine that the price would approach the vanishing point until the surplus was gotten rid of if the law of supply and demand prevailed. We can well imagine that if it were announced that gasoline had dropped to ten cents till they got rid of the surplus supply, many of us would lay in a quantity for future use, but there is something that interferes with the law.

We note that the farmers are requested by their farm leaders to reduce production in various lines where the prices are low and production is high. To be sure, there are thousands of people still hungry. But they haven't the means to purchase, so that for all practical purposes, as far as the farmer is concerned, it is an overproduction, and the prices, if possible, should be sustained, and in some cases raised, In times of depression an effort is made to get as much income gross from the production even if a lesser amount and from the few who are able to pay, as when times are good and the income comes from the larger number. To be sure, this would make it more difficult for those who have little to get sufficient for their needs, but that is another story.

We do not blame the oil companies for getting together and reducing output to protect themselves from a cut-throat competition due to the surplus. If we were in the oil business, we would do the same thing. But we cannot help wishing sometimes they would be more frank about it, and admit their purposes rather than with these crocodile tears claim that their interest is for posterity.

We are thinking pretty much alike. We all feel a good deal as the Irishman when he was asked to do something for posterity. He said he liked to be governed by gratitude, and that he did not know what posterity had ever done for him.

A Chicago judge told a grand jury that every gunman is likely to shoot a citizen. Oh, judge, isn't it possible some of those fellows are just taking home the guns for their kiddies to play with?

SENATOR FESS DEFENDS HOOVER

We are glad to note that Senator Fess has taken it upon himself to produce a defense for the first year of the Hoover administration. There is enough which has been done this first year to give a man abundant material, and few men are more capable of doing it, and there are none to whom it would appeal more powerfully than Senator Fess.

Senator Fess is first of all a Republican. Second, he is always for the Republican administration. Third, he is for the Republican organization, and fourth, his thinking on public questions is definitely and consciously circumscribed by his loyalty to these three institutions.

He has not, for a long period of time, had a man for whose service he could more powerfully use his ability to present an argument than he finds in President Hoover. We heartily agree with Senator Fess' argument and defense. We should rather have seen someone who is not always so reliably for the administration take up this duty, because by the very nature of the case, the defense by Senator Fess will be discounted.

They will cite the fact that this is always Senator Fess' position; that he was a defender of the Harding administration and loyal to the president then, and that he stuck to him till his death; that his affections were transferred with equal ardor to President Coolidge, and Senator Fess was the one man in the country who insisted that Mr. Coolidge should be renominated and stuck to his loyalty till the ballots were counted and Mr. Hoover was the candidate.

But Mr. Hoover may know that regardless of what may happen, in storm or fair weather, with a high tariff or low, with unemployment or every man with a job, he can always find the senior senator from Ohio ready to meet all oncomers with a challenge that the present administration, if Republican, is the best that the country has ever seen, and has saved the nation on innumerable occasions from some tragic disaster.

We are glad, however, that the senator has the resources now on which he can draw, which will appeal, we believe, to millions of people who are by no means as partisan as he is.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR SPECULATION

The United States grand jury at San Francisco has just returned an indictment against members of a stock brokerage firm, who accepted money from employes of a bank for the purchase of stock, and who were alleged to have known that this money was taken by the employes from the bank's money. The total amount involved is something over a half million dollars.

If the facts are as they were related to the grand jury and published in the dispatches, it is to be hoped that the brokerage firm will suffer for their action. In many places throughout the country, brokerage firms accept accounts from employes of banks and other institutions where the employes have access to trust funds, and frequently it turns out that there has been embezzlement in these particular cases.

Brokerage firms should have the burden upon themselves to protect the public, when men known to be in such relationship to funds enter into deals involving large amounts of money. Many of these speculations are of such a character that any man exercising just ordinary discretion might know that the individual was not using his own money. So frequently embezzlements have their animus in the desire of the individual to make quick money through speculation. It is entirely possible that if the brokerage firms had placed upon them the responsibility of learning the responsibility of their clients and that they permitted them to speculate at their joint peril, providing there was a misappropriation of funds, it would be better for all parties concerned including the trusting public.

EARLY AMERICAN VISITORS

Dr. Roald Olsen, of the American Museum of Natural History, declares that Polynesians or other Pacific islanders may have discovered America before Columbus did. His article is based on the theory which comes from the investigation of burial grounds about twenty miles from Santa Barbara.

In these mounds they have found remains of canoes and fish-hooks showing a culture far advanced to that of the tribes which inhabited that region. Maybe they did discover it. They may have been washed up to its shores, but they never returned to tell about it.

Discovery consists as much or maybe more in returning and giving information than of simply arrival, in fact, whether you declare that there was no discovery in such a case or a discovery without information, it only goes to the question of the meaning of the word discovery. Sound consists, we are told, of waves striking the eardrum, and producing sensations, and hence they ask the question if there was nothing with ears to hear, could there be any sound. Under the definition of sound, of course, there could not be.

If these Polynesians discovered California or America, they only discovered it for themselves. In fact, the Indians discovered the Polynesians just as much as the Polynesians discovered the land. How many points of interest, places inaccessible were seen by people who never returned to tell the story, we do not know. Discovery without announcement is a futile enterprise.

Orient and Occident

Oakland Tribune

Those who are captivated by the color and spirit of Oriental art and so draw comparisons to the disparagement of the Occident, are refuted by China's foremost modern philosopher, Dr. Hu Smith, who recently lectured before the Shanghai American Association of University Women.

The old social order of China, said this distinguished Chinese, is decadent. For a hundred years China has not seen the rise of a painter, a poet, a thinker or teacher of the first magnitude.

China's chief problem today, according to Dr. Hu, is one of cultural conflict. The old order is found inadequate in dealing with a situation brought about by contact with the peoples and civilizations of the West.

A view strangely in conflict with that held by modern writers and speakers is one which sees maternalism in the Oriental culture and idealism in that of the Occident. Says Dr. Hu:

"Modern western civilization, which has fast become the world civilization, is highly idealistic and spiritual, not only in its scientific spirit, not only in its democratic institutions, but also in its mechanical progress which relieves human suffering and enhances human happiness.

"On the other hand, the older civilization of the east, which resigns itself to material environment and to the forces of nature without taking effective measures to subjugate them, for the benefit of man, must be justly described as materialistic in the worst sense of the term."

Here we have a Chinese philosopher supporting a premise recently set forth by the noted California scientist, Dr. Robert A. Millikan.

Fastidious

Riverside Enterprise

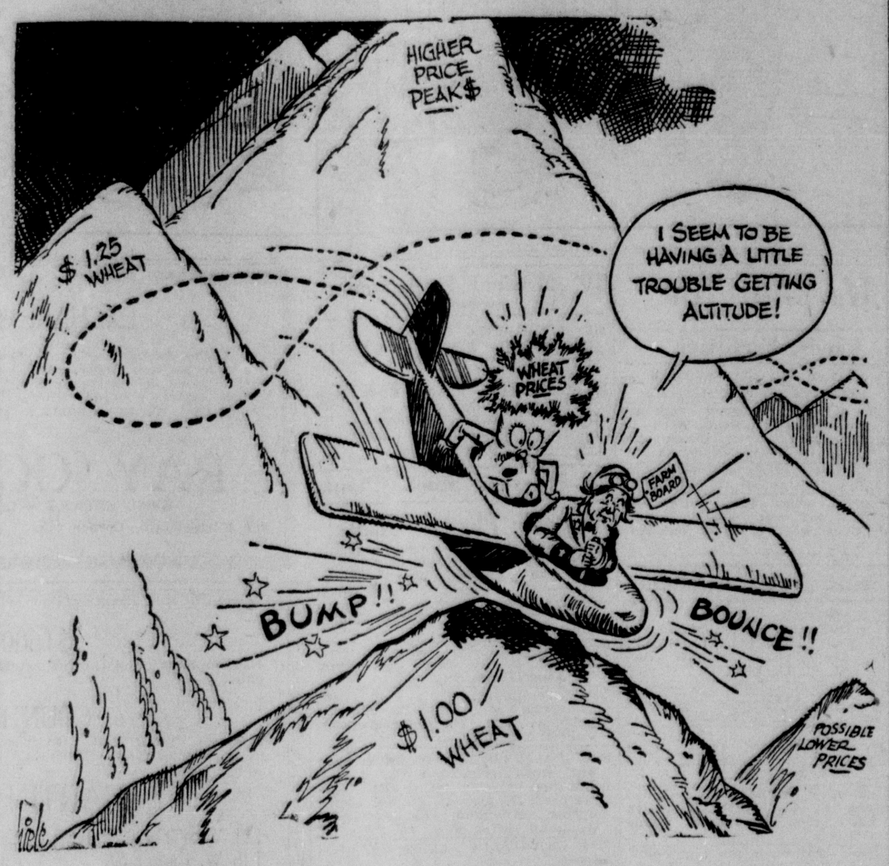

It has been said, and truthfully, that Paris designs the clothing and America wears it. None will deny that the American is the best dressed individual in the world. This does not mean that Americans overdress, but that the average man, woman and child in this country has better and more clothing than do those of other countries.

Only a few years ago the well-dressed man and woman on the street was the exception. There were many of these exceptions, but there were more people down-at-the-heel, unpressed and threadbare. Old clothes are worn only in the factories now. Even the conservative and thrifty rural folk don city clothes on their now frequent excursions into town.

During the last decade communities of all sizes have witnessed a phenomenal increase in the number of retail dealers in wearing apparel for men, women and children. There are dozens of each kind in even the moderately sized cities and in no other business has the tendency to specialize been so marked. The modern town and city, in addition to its department and clothing stores, now has its shirt shops, waist shops, hosiery shops, hat stores, boys' clothing stores and children's shops. There must have been a many-fold increase in the demand for clothing to bring so many business establishments into thriving existence.

And it isn't that they are more vain that more people are wearing better clothing. It is because modern standards of living demand and warrant it.

PREFERENCE

I like the little city child
That romps around the park,
Whose raiment never is defiled
By any sooty mark.
He looks so neat and trig and trim
That, even should I try,
I could not keep my eyes off him
When I am passing by.

I like the tiny baby girls,
With white and starchy frocks
And little silky, corkscrew curls
And shiny silken socks.
Though often they seem proud and cold,
Like some bright shining star,
And seem to know, at four years old,
What lovely things they are.

I like the children that I pass
Upon their schoolward way,
Who never romp upon the grass
And soil their bright array.
They march along, through sun and shade,
In gleaming morning dress—
A glorious infantile parade
Of spotless cleanliness.

Yet, if kind Heaven would give to me
The utmost gift of power,
I would not have all children be
As perfect as a flower.
Some ought to be as fair as suns
And filled with charms and graces,
But most of all I like the ones
With dirty hands and faces.

Victims Of Progress

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Now comes news of the invention of a shoe machine that may throw another 10,000 factory hands out of work!

But such news is no longer news. Science is adding constantly to enforced idleness. On every hand, we see at work the Aladdin-like magic of invention. Fertilizers are plucked from the thin air. Many other ways are discovered of making two—or even a dozen—calories of food grow where one grew before.

One girl, operating six rib-cutting machines, does as much work in a clothing factory as 25 used to do by hand. One girl takes care of more cotton looms than 50 could manage formerly; and one girl, with a wrapping machine, now takes the place of 100.

A shoe-lasting machine now does the work of eight men; a window glass machine does the work of 20; and a bottle-making machine, the work of 54.

Thus, in countless industries, science has increased the productivity of labor.

And thrown many laborers out of work!

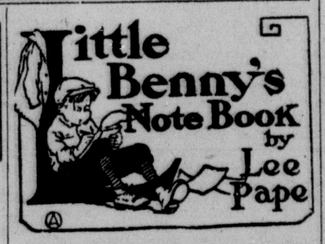

How many, nobody knows. We all know, however, that some 50,000 harvesting machines have taken the place of more than 100,000 farm laborers. We know that in 10 years air control of New York subway train doors has cut down the number of guards about 25 per cent, while the number of passengers has increased 50 per cent. We know, too, that Class 1 railroads have greatly increased their business, and at the same time reduced the numbers on their payrolls by 13 per cent.

Turning to manufacturing as a whole, we find that for every 100 workers employed in 1923, not more than 88 are employed today.

But even this glimpse reveals a permanent problem. Ways must be devised for taking care of men who are displaced by machines. There should be no Victims of Progress.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

TWO GREAT SOULS

He was a fine and unstanding lad.

Three years in laboratory and class room had blessed him—or cursed him according to one's point of view—with an insatiable hunger for reality and a capacity for critical examination of the foundations of truth and life.

He was fumbling as millions of his generation the world around are fumbling for a religious satisfaction resting upon something more adequate than a memorized creed.

He wanted me to tell him a half dozen books that might help him.

I could have told him of a score of current books runnig the gamut from unquestioning orthodoxy to uncompromising modernism, but before I set him wrestling with competing theologies, I wanted him to know how other and older men have faced and fought the doubts and dilemmas that seemed new to him, I wanted him to feel the finer shadings and overtones of this struggle for a vital faith that all real men know at some time. And, rightly or wrongly, I commended to him two old books instead of the current argumentative books in which the moderns are airing their dogmas and their doubts.

The two books I gave him were, viz:

John Henry Newman's Apologia Pro Vita Sua.

Ernest Renan's Recollections of My Youth.

In 1845, John Henry Newman left the Church of England and entered the Roman Catholic church in which he served with distinction and power as cardinal extraordinary.

He sought peace of mind and power of spirit on an ancient pathway worn smooth by the treading of millions.

Three days before this distinguished Anglican was taking refuge in the arms of the Roman communion, Ernest Renan was leaving the Seminary of St. Sulpice, in which he was in training for the priesthood, because doubts raced like rats through his brains.

He sought peace of mind and power of spirit on uncharted pathways where no church provided him with chart and compass.

Each of these great spirits left an autobiography of unforgettable significance.

Each was an authentic leader of thought.

Each was an accomplished writer.

And in these two autobiographies the spirtual dilemmas of the last four centuries and, I suspect, the next four centuries are mirrored.

I wish every disturbed young American would read both.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SELFISH FEARS

Fear is not voluntary. Children do not enjoy being afraid and they will avoid what causes fear whenever they can. But they have a way of using fear, of actually creating fear to serve their own ends.

A little boy had been the only child in the family for five years. Then a baby sister was born and the mother and father and relatives rejoiced greatly. The little boy seemed a little grave about the whole affair but showed no other indications of jealousy. But he began to make demands upon his mother that he never had made before.

He had been in the habit of going to bed very cheerfully. His mother gave him the little assistance he needed and his father or grandmother, whoever happened to be handy, escorted him to his room, tucked him in and turned off the light. That was all that was necessary for the child to slip off into a long night's restful sleep. This was changed.

"I want mother to come to bed with me."

"No you don't. You said good night to mother. She is busy. I'll put you to bed and you'll be all right."

"No. I'm afraid. I'm afraid to go to bed without my mother. She must come to bed with me."

Must. Mother was to be obliged to come to bed with him. Why? Because he was afraid. Of what? Lots of things. Mother must come. And he raised such an outcry that his mother came rushing to his side. He sobbed hysterically that he was afraid, afraid, and that she must stay with him.

Now began a long series of fears. He couldn't go into the yard to play because he was afraid. Nor to the store on an errand. His mother must not go out without taking him with her because he was afraid to stay alone. Any attempt to force him to do as he usually did ended in his having a crying fit or a tantrum. Mother must stay with him. He was afraid.

By now he was a timid child, cowering at every shadow, starting at every sound. He was perfectly miserable and made the entire household uneasy. The fear that he had conjured up to hold his mother's attention had gotten the upper hand of him and he was truly afraid of the vague ideas that haunted him.

When such a thing happens we have to re-condition the child. He does not know that he is using fear to hold his mother close to him. Nor do we tell him so. It is sufficient that we know the cause of the fear. We do our work indirectly as possible. The five-year-old child can be helped greatly through the kindergarten class. Association with children who have been successfully weaned from the infantile stage of mother-care will help the undeveloped child to emerge from his bondage.

We begin to teach the child to help with the baby who is really the root of the trouble. We try to interest the older child in doing little services for the younger one. It is natural to love those dependent upon us and once we know ourselves superior in any way to the object of our jealous fear we lose the fear. Force and scolding are useless. We have to work wisely and gently and undo the mischief that a lack of foresight has wrought.

WILSON'S PARIS TRIP

On March 5, 1919, Woodrow Wilson left New York for a second trip to Paris to help formulate the peace treaty and the League of Nations.

On his first trip to Paris on December 4, 1918, President Wilson succeeded in persuading the peace conference to accept the principle of the League of Nations as a basis of peace and in drafting a preliminary draft of the covenant.

When he returned to the United States, however, he was confronted with Republican opposition to the league in the senate. In order then to meet Republican suggestions, the president sailed again for France. This time he was able to secure the insertion in the covenant of certain amendments required by American sentiment, and on June 28, 1919, the treaty was signed.

On his return to the United States Wilson started a tour from coast to coast, making speeches for the league and declaring that if America rejected it she would "break the great heart of the world." The president campaigned so strenuously that he broke down on September 26 and was compelled to return to Washington.
